Graduation . . . commencement . . . these are the words which connote a beginning as well as an ending, for though one phase of life ends here, another begins.

1) The heaviest snowstorm in recent history transformed the campus into a winter wonderland.
2) Senior Mike Winchester views the world from a different angle as he warms up for a track meet.
3) Colorful original fashions are modeled by senior Jill Tuley and junior Karen White at Garment Designs spring fashion show.
4) A football, personally autographed for a young fan by members of the Wildcat football team is guarded by senior Dwayne Majors and junior Stevie Haynes.
5) Long lines form as students wait to sign up for classes during registration.
6) Varsity cheerleaders anticipate the break-through of the Wildcat football team at the South Garland game.

Expectations of ourselves and our time are great and many; we are idealistic, optimistic, and hopeful for the future.

1) Music is heard throughout the campus as the marching band plays the school fight song to raise spirits before the Sherman football game.
2) Senior David Plemons sneaks a peek at the lunchroom activities during his leisurely hour-long lunch.
3) Like senior John Vanderventer, the school ducks like to munch on chee-tos at lunch.
4) Performing a head stand in gymnastics class, senior Beth Milligan learns balance.
5) PSHS Principal Barney Newton, Williams High School Principal Tom Moore, and ROTC Colonel Curtis Fish watch a pregame warm up from the football stands.
6) In appreciation for the three years she served as twirler, Liz Shields receives a dozen roses from senior class president Brian McCall during a fall pep rally.
7) Symbolic of Homecoming, mum corsages set atop the cheerleaders' megaphones prior to gametime.
8) Defensive players Steve Pedigo, C. M. Pier, and Walter Ford sit on the sidelines while the Wildcat offense takes over.

We expect to find within ourselves resourcefulness for difficult times, patience and tolerance for others,
perseverance in the face of obstacles,
and hope in the most hopeless circumstances.

1) Crowds fill the bleachers when pep rallies are held on Friday mornings during the fall.
2) Teachers are caught up in the T-shirt trend as they form their own organization, the "Plano Profs."
3) Wildcat football fans join in singing the school song before the opening kickoff.
4) Plano's new stadium, to be completed in August, will boast a seating capacity of 14,200.
5) ROTC's responsibilities include presenting the colors at athletic events.
6) For her Comp V term paper, junior Heidi Hill gathers material from a reference book in the library.
7) A solitary french horn player practices on a deserted stairway.
8) Reaching high above the campus, the lighted tower has become a special symbol for PSHS students.

The future . . .
is what we will make it . . .
unforeseeable, but hopeful . . .
For we are the future — the children of our past, but the adults of today.

Summer fun halts as school begins

Summer came to an abrupt halt in mid August as school began with college style registration.

Students rolled out of bed as early as 2:30 Friday morning, August 18 to beat the crowds to registration. Although doors to the school cafeteria did not open until 7:45, the line began gathering at 4:30 a.m. Once inside, students rushed from table to table filling in their schedule. To some, scheduling was a hassle and they turned to counselors for assistance while others braved the long departmental lines to work out their own puzzles.

College style registration was optional for next year's seniors. Juniors' schedules were worked out by computers.

Spirit week leads up to homecoming

Spirit Week, leading up to the Homecoming game, was the highlight of the Wildcat football season.

Students and teachers joined the lead of the varsity cheerleaders in raising school spirit for five special days.

Monday was "kicked off" with a boot day when all fans wore boots. Tuesday brought a wild assortment of lollipops on "Lick 'Em Cats" day. Wednesday, tribute was paid to the Wildcats on "Hats Off to the Cats" day. Hats were acceptable attire in all classes.

Levis had a field day on Thursday when students wore overalls to proclaim "Cats Are Overall." Excitement mounted as students arrived at school Friday dressed in fashions of the Fifties.

The annual drum beat, which began at midnight Thursday, continued nonstop until the pep rally Friday morning. Mothers of the football players attended and were honored, along with the team, at the special pep rally.

Joy; defeat for Homecoming 1976

Cries of joy; tears of defeat.

Homecoming 1976 will be one to remember for senior Pam Allbritten as she was named Homecoming Queen during half-time ceremonies of the Plano vs. Denison football game. It will also be remembered as Plano's first Homecoming loss in eight years. Plano was defeated 14-9.

Members of the Queen's court, escorted by their fathers, included seniors Audrey Bickham, Mary Davis, and Julie Young and juniors Robyn Grigsby and Celeste Hickey.

The game was the last Wildcat game to be played in the familiar surroundings of Wildcat Stadium since next year's games will be played in the new stadium in Northwest Plano.

"Dream On" was the theme of the annual dance where live music was provided by "Reunion" and the Queen and her attendants took the traditional honor dance.

OKLAHOMA!

A "surrey with the fringe on top" visited the campus when the musical production of "Oklahoma" was presented in late February as a joint effort of the theatre and musical departments.

The musical centered around Oklahoma in its pioneering stages before it became a state.

"Oklahoma" was a combination comedy and love story based on Lyn Riggs "Green Grow the Lilacs."

The story revolved around a young girl, Laurey, and her changing romance with a young man, Curly. A third party, farmhand Jud Frey, became involved, causing a number of problems for the couple.

The long anticipated spring musical combined students' singing, dancing, and acting talents into a show that was well received, playing to a full house for four evenings in succession.

1) Laurey (Paula Cowles) rushes to Curly's (John Muns) side to be comforted because she is frightened by farmhand Jud Frey.
2) Townsfolk gather near as Aunt Eller (Kathy Woollett) gives them a word of advice for the annual bidding of picnic baskets.
3) Love can be one-sided as Ado Annie (Pam McCreary) tries to coax Ali Hacklin (Sid Catlett) into a proposal of marriage.
4) Members of the company, Vickie Hughey, Brandon King, Steve Woods, Curtis Miles and Dick Broussard, sing the "Oklahoma" reprise.
5) After winning Laurey's picnic basket Curly (John Muns) is forced to shake hands with his competitive bidder Jud Frey (Neel Choate).

Imaginative staging adds to Shakespeare production

An ambitious production of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" opened the dramatic season. Imaginative staging for the comedy included an overhead swing for the entrance of Puck.

The stage was draped in very different effects for the second play, "Count Dracula." Devices were used to provide an eerie atmosphere on a stage with backlighted portraits and fog rolling in.

As soon as the "Count" set was struck, theatre students embarked on a pair of productions.

"Oklahoma!" was cast and after a week of rehearsals, the "Glass Menagerie" was cast. Two production companies rehearsed simultaneously, one in the theatre and the other on a transplanted stage in the lecture hall.

Girls finally had their chance in April as the week of Sadie Hawkins approached. Each girl grabbed a man to celebrate the special week. Wednesday, following two days of "gutting up" to ask a guy, the girls made tags for their guys to wear announcing they were "taken." Making cookies and cupcakes was just one of the things the girls did for their guys on "Do Something Special" day. Friday was "Lil' Abner" and "Daisy May Dress Up" day.

Best dressed girl, Vicki Hirt, and best dressed guy, Mark Burch, were awarded free passes to the annual dance and a $10 refund on their couple's dinner tab. The Sadie Hawkins dance concluded the mid-week festivities where Sound System provided the entertainment.

3) Enjoying a slow paced dance at the Sadie Hawkins dance are seniors Curtis Miles and Connie Nicholson.
4) Tom (Brandon King) brings home a gentleman caller (Darrin Garlish) much to the delight of his fading southern belle mother (Cindy Hartman) in "Glass Menagerie."
5) Count Dracula (Doug Gaston) confronts Renfield (Vickie Hughey) asking her to do evil deeds against her wishes.
6) To announce the man she caught during Sadie Hawkins week, junior Kim Berg wears an artistic tag.

Students greet Spring's arrival

As the flowers began to bloom and everything outside turned green, spring burst forth, bringing with it great expectations. For the juniors, it was looking forward to the long, relaxing summer days and for the seniors, it was looking forward to graduation.

Clubs gathered for the last time to hold end-of-the-year banquets. Final performances were given by the drill team, drama and choir departments. UIL competition kept many groups working into May as students strived for individual recognition.

Two informal days, "Slop" day and an unscheduled "Skip" day, gave students a break from the normal school routine.

Spring was the quarter when studying became a matter of pure will power. When the spring fever hit in epidemic proportions, students began the countdown until the last day of school.

2) Drill team members Barbara Ewing, Tammy Robison and Becky Wall perform to the tune, "On the Good Ship Lollipop" at the annual spring variety show, Pizzaz.
3) Modeling her original design at the spring-summer style show is second year garment design student Jill Tuley.
4) Dunios (John Muns) and the archbishop (Darrin Garlish) discuss the fate of Joan for drama's UIL entry.
5) Students take advantage of the nice warm weather as they sit by the pond during their lunch break.
6) Beating out a Lake Highlands player, centerfielder Jim Bob Puckett runs to first base.

Spring Day mixes fun with profit

Spring Day provided an opportunity for fun and profit.

Horticulture classes sold bedding plants and hanging baskets. Garment Design students made and sold sun dresses and T-shirts. Student artists exhibited their work and sketched portraits. FFA members sold freezer beef while the FHA sold pies and cakes.

Heavy morning rains did not discourage students from participating in the pie-eating contest. Senior Marvin Drews, representing sixth period AP English, ate his cream pie in the best time!

Spirits were dampened when rains cancelled the softball game and tug-o-war contest between juniors and seniors.

1) Senior Elizabeth Waltrip is all smiles as she sells another candy bar to support FBLA projects.
2) Juniors Eileen Reilly and Connie Bontz look on with expectations of selling their prized plants.
3) Prospective buyers admire art students' work at Spring Day.
4) Students await the signal to begin a messy pie-eating contest.
5) After buying bedding plants, a local patron stops at the FHA/Key Club refreshment stand to buy a Coke.

Students boogie at first social

Recordings of Led Zeppelin and Boz Scaggs were just two of the bands that students boogied to at the first of several football socials sponsored by the Administration.

"Cold Steel" played at the Christmas Dance sponsored by the Student Senate. Admission to the dance was a canned food item which was later donated to a needy Plano family.

FHA/HERO sponsored a semi-formal dance at Valentines where the junior and senior class favorites were announced.

Dances became a tradition following the Wildcat basketball games.

Always a popular event, the Sadie Hawkins Dance was sponsored by the Junior Class.

A special day in the spring when everybody came to school in sloppy clothes provided an occasion for a Slop Dance. Students dressed in their sloppiest outfits for the dance.

Tradition breaks as prom becomes "for seniors only"

Tradition was broken this year as the annual Junior-Senior Prom became a Senior Prom due to an ever increasing number of graduates. In order to compensate for the increased size, another change was made as class officers voted to move the event from the Royal Coach Inn to the roomier private ballroom at Texas Stadium.

Dance music was provided by "Central Expressway" at the May 14 extravaganza from 8 till midnight. A highlight of the evening was the announcement of "most likely" students as voted on by fellow classmates and presented by the Senior Class officers.

Activities bring year to a halt

"Senioritis" ended with the last week of school. Caps and gowns, graduation announcements and baccalaureate practices brought it all to a quick halt.

On Tuesday of the last week, the seniors had baccalaureate practice, and were honored at a reception. Senior "wills" filled the last issue of Wildcat Tales as seniors contributed their final comments and a list of their chosen colleges at which they will be the under classmen once again.

Seniors meet for final ceremony on May 30 at Moody

Emotions were high as the class of '77 completed its final ceremonies. Baccalaureate services were held May 29 at 8 p.m. in the Activities Building of the Senior High. The Reverend Marshall Edwards of Columbus Avenue Baptist Church in Waco delivered the address.

Religious music for the service was provided by the Concert Choir under the direction of R. J. Winters. Accompanied by Libby Robinson, the group sang "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked," and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You."

Graduation ceremonies were held at Moody Coliseum on the Southern Methodist University campus in Dallas at 8 p.m., May 30. Diplomas were awarded to approximately 827 graduates.

Master of ceremonies was Senior Class President Brian McCall. Featured speakers for the evening were seniors Gerrit Pronske, who spoke on "Commitment to Self," and Beverly Quarles on "Commitment to Community." The valedictory address, "Commitment to Excellence," was delivered by Megan Peek. Megan headed the honor graduates with a 97.25 grade average, followed by salutatorian Linda Helton with a 96.37 grade average.

4) Mary Fossier is all smiles as she walks from the platform.
5) Gerrit Pronske speaks to the graduating seniors on "Commitment to Self."
6) At the close of the commencement exercises, the seniors stand for the benediction.

Doors close on empty halls

Traveling back, through the tunnels of our minds
To the days when laughter knew
our names,
Good times, bad times.
It all fades as we simply walk away from it all.
The places and faces that were so important,
Lonely chairs, empty lockers are left to someone else.
It's hard to accept the fact
That we must say goodbye
To what we had,
To what we loved.

Media students feature Plano police officer in movie

With imaginative teaching, English and Foreign Language teachers sparked life into BEOWULF and French irregular verbs. Media students, aided by a Plano policeman, wrote, acted in and filmed their own movie. Spanish students made piñatas and German students attended Octoberfest.

Seniors in Advanced Placement English, nicknamed APE's, established themselves as the first APE group to design and wear their official t-shirts. The wearing of the shirts, emblazoned with a monkey tipping a mortar board on the front and "Go A.P.E. '77" on the back, was celebrated on a proclaimed "APE day." During the day, APE's drew puzzled stares from classmates and posed for posterity in photos taken by the Plano Star Courier and run on the front page. Aside from all this "monkey business," A.P. English students studied Emily Dickinson's poetry, read HAMLET and SAINT JOAN, and took several practice A.P. tests.

While studying the communications industry in Mass Media, students were assigned various projects, including photo essays, radio shows, and a 30 minute television show they actually videotaped. Some students elected to produce films; one group made a crime show during the first quarter. They featured a robbery scene filmed at nearby Prairie Creek Shopping Center, and included a guest spot by a Plano policeman who "apprehended" the criminals.

Colorful tissue paper piñatas, the aroma of chili and spices, and the sound of exuberant Mexican children's games enhanced the study of Latin-American life in Customs, Culture and Cooking, a one quarter Spanish III course. The class included the in-class cooking of unusual Mexican dishes, the study of traditions surrounding major holidays such as Halloween, and the study and practice of Spanish-American folk dances and games.

French and German students supplemented their grammar lessons with the studies of French and German home life. By tasting French cheeses and singing French songs like the national anthem, French students gained a sense of unity with the people of France. In March, the French group attended the National French Contest at Dallas Baptist College. Bake sales financed German students' trip to the Octoberfest in Arlington where they enjoyed rousing German songs and vigorous folk dances. They also entered a five mile hike, baked a gingerbread house for a baking competition, and drank in a root beer guzzling contest.

Animals, machines fill students' day in science, math

Bernie, a five year old iguana, joined Touché the turtle and other assorted lizards, snakes and mice in the biology laboratories where animal behavior was studied.

From their vantage point in specially built cages around the rooms, the animals often observed students while themselves being studied. Nutritional analyses were made on the animals by members of Biology I and daily records were kept by physical science students on each animal's habits.

Among the fun inventions in physical science were turbine engines. In-class contests were evident when sounds of racing engines roared through the hallways.

For the second year, computer math was included in the mathematics curriculum. The three quarter course introduced students to the history of computer development and taught them programming skills.

Problem solving was on an individual basis as students worked on the Hewlett-Packard 2000. Projects undertaken included writing games, FORTRAN, filing system, and writing assistant instruction programs in which the computer is the teacher.

"I'm pleased with the interest and enthusiasm that the students have taken toward the course," commented advisor Mrs. Donna Osborne. "The extra time that students devote to the program makes it one of the best in the Region X area."

Other advanced math classes included trigonometry, logic and slide rule, elementary analysis, linear programming, and a two-hour in depth major studies program.

Presidential elections involve students in politics

Jimmy Carter and Gerald Ford brought excitement into American Government classes and Social Studies Major Studies as the presidential campaign fever reached epidemic proportions during the first quarter of Social Studies classes. In other classes such as A.P. History and Student Senate, politics played an important role in predicting the future of America and making school policy. The politics of human relationships was studied in psychology classes.

Participation in the 1976 presidential election occupied the fall months for Social Studies Major Studies. Students pledged their support to Ford or Carter in both the national elections as well as their own mock election and campaign. In late October, as political factions grew more divided, strategy sessions, public rallies and campaign rhetoric increased in number and intensity. On November 2, as the nation went to the polls and elected Jimmy Carter President, Plano students also cast their votes in their mock election; Ford won by a landslide. The rest of the year, Major Studies students heard guest speakers like local political figures Connie Armstrong and Bob Hendricks, worked at internships in their chosen fields, and visited the Texas state capitol in Austin.

While Social Studies Major Studies students devoted themselves to the current events, Advanced Placement American History students examined the politics of the past 200 years. The college-level course focused on the economic and political causes of the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, the Civil War and the Mexican War. Students also witnessed a recreation of the dramatic Lincoln-Douglas debates performed in class, and learned the Black perspective of slavery by listening to Negro spirituals on records.

College visitation days became a heated issue before the Student Senate, with Senators supporting reinstatement of these days for seniors. Daily sessions also included the study of guidelines for cheerleader elections, pep rally schedules and the possibility of buying a cage for the school mascot. New this year was the program of public commendations for individuals or groups who helped PSHS during the year; among those commended were the custodians and the Quarterback Club.

The mysteries of the human mind continued to intrigue students and Psychology remained a popular class. Insight into the world of emotions was investigated through word association games and study of behavior patterns and the human defense mechanism; they learned how others see them by setting up mock job interviews and being hired or not hired for the imaginary jobs. Pet Day highlighted the course, with all shapes and sizes of animals, mostly dogs, invading the classroom and being trained through the incentive method.

Business skills benefit students in journalism class

Typing benefited students in major studies programs such as journalism and printing. After acquiring a basic knowledge of a business skills subject, students were able to apply that skill in advanced business classes as well as other subjects. Typing I students continued into Typing II where emphasis was placed on preparation of business forms and production efficiency. As a continuation of basic bookkeeping principles, Bookkeeping II showed students how to keep a set of books for small businesses.

Business and non-business majors benefited from the variety of classes available in the Business Department. As part of the overall school rationale, Business Communications reviewed basic skills with emphasis on grammar and sentence structure. Business Arithmetic aided students in becoming wise consumers while Business Law students dealt with principles of civil rights.

New textbooks were selected for use next year by Journalism I students. The book emphasized basic newspaper mechanics as well as a general survey of fields within the mass media.

Journalism II and III students wrote and edited the Curriculagram each month for distribution to the faculty. Major studies class published the campus newspaper Wildcat Tales.

In its second year of publication at the senior high school, the Planonian provided a comprehensive account of the school year. The staff included five second-year students.

Sales of fruitcakes send Wildcat band to Kansas City

Arts in Plano had an active and fruitful year. While Wildcat band members sold fruitcakes to finance an out-of-town trip to a concert, art students were busy putting together a book of original lithographs; speech students were organizing three on-campus speech tournaments and choir and drama students combined to present OKLAHOMA!

Controversy over the transferral of long-time Plano band director Emmit Clem to Wilson Middle School started off the marching band season. Despite the turmoil, new director Tom Bennett reorganized the group and entertained Plano football crowds with high-stepping precision routines. To raise money in the fall and winter months, band members donated time and energy to concession stands, fruitcake and popcorn sales and inventories at area retail stores such as Titche's, Sanger-Harris and Levine's. The reward for their labors was a spring trip to Kansas City where they were awarded sweepstakes ratings.

Symphonic band, which started after football season, was made up of the best musicians from marching band. Classical music was the forté of the symphonic band, which presented public concerts throughout the year.

Top musicians from symphonic band and string musicians combined to form the pit orchestra, which performed at the drama department's musical productions.

Stage band entertained with pop music at concerts, basketball games, and banquets held by the Quarterback Club.

Awards in various art contests highlighted the 1976-77 school year for Art Major Studies. Class members had four portfolios sent to the state finals in the Texas Fine Arts Association Portfolio competition, took more awards at the prestigious University of Dallas high school show and one class member won first place in Seventeen magazine's annual illustration contest. In addition, the class published its first book of lithographics to finance art supplies, painted colorful wall graphics to designate subject areas around the school and drew a variety of subjects, from animals to the children in the Education for Parenting nursery.

Winning first place sweepstakes at the prestigious Jesuit tournament was the high point of the speech department's tournament season. The team attended 20 tournaments, capturing five sweepstakes trophies by mid-season. The speech squad qualified nine people for the Texas State Forensic Competition in May. In addition to outside competition, the Plano speech team hosted three tournaments on campus, including one middle school, one high school and one senior high tournament.

Theatre introduces special effects

Addition of a new drama teacher brought exciting dimensions to the theatre department. Special effects such as secret passageways, a trick bookcase, and a realistic death scene were introduced in the production of "Count Dracula." The intimate surroundings of the Building B Lecture Hall were a perfect backdrop for the construction of complicated stage platforms for "Glass Menagerie." The new drama teacher shared his knowledge of dance and stage movement with the drama classes and choreographed "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and the spring musical "Oklahoma!"

A new class, Technical Theatre, introduced aspects of backstage theatre like lighting, sound, and set design. Class members proved helpful in the construction of the elaborate scenery for "Midsummer Night's Dream." They also built a Cinebach projector to project silhouettes of trees on the stage and give the illusion of a magical forest for the Shakespearian farce.

Drama and choir departments combined talents for the year's spring musical "Oklahoma!" The Choir Department also gave Christmas and spring concerts during the year, including one at the TSTA convention in Dallas. They also sold light bulbs and Christmas wrapping paper to enable them to take a trip in May to Atlanta to sing at Six Flags over Georgia.

4) Drill team members practice their award winning box routine under the watchful eye of Mrs. Phyllis McNeill.

5) Lieutenant Greg Baker gives commands to the ROTC drill team in practice for a meet.

J.R.O.T.C., Planoettes march to different drummers

Shrill voice commands by an officer began the precision marching of ROTC boys and girls drill teams in contrast to the whistle blown by the Planoette drill team signaling the beginning of their jazz routine. One thing both groups had in common were the long practice sessions during class and after school. Their efforts proved worthwhile as both teams won awards in area contests.

ROTC's program also involved studying military history, reading maps, learning military tactics. Rifle marksmanship was displayed this year with the rifle team winning a first place in the Dallas County Meet.

Five Captains led the Planoettes, breaking the traditional single captain structure. The 65 girls began practice sessions at Kilgore Junior College's summer drill team camp.

Replacing old uniforms, the drill team girls wore versatile three piece outfits of maroon and silver. An additional silver fringed skirt, purchased by the Bootbacker, was worn for jazz routines.

The high kick routine performed during the football season was to the tune of "That's Entertainment" which fit right in to what most spectators thought as they watched the girls perform during halftime.

Home Economics stresses awareness for the future

Homemaking '76 plunged into America's third century with great concern for an awareness of the future. Gone were the days when homemaking students learned only how to heat soup or make aprons. Home Economics classes took on the responsibilities of preparing students, male and female, for the complicated world of adulthood.

With the addition of Consumer Education, students learned about Social Security, taxes, insurance, even the high cost of dying. They heard speakers from banks, savings and loans, and the Department of Consumer Affairs. They also investigated guarantees, frauds, and warranties.

Another class, Housing, not only taught students how to decorate and furnish houses, but also how to buy and pay for a home or apartment. Students gained on-the-job experience by stripping and refinishing funiture for the Ammie Wilson Heritage House in Plano.

Students in Education for Parenting covered all phases of adolescent mental and physical development by observing children at elementary schools, the pediatrics ward at Plano General Hospital, and in their self-supporting nursery at PSHS. They surveyed children's art, wrote jounals on child behavior, and studied different types of parents. The class introduced students to careers in parenting, elementary education, pediatrics, and child psychology.

Garment Design trained students in the fashion and merchandising fields. In addition to learning the skills of pattern drafting, altering, and fitting, students opened an on-campus store to sell their creations and modeled original garments in a spring fashion show.

Commercial Foods students provided a valuable service to school and community by serving banquets to groups like the Rotary Club and special luncheons to the teachers. Students learned aspects of the food service industry from safety and sanitation to menu planning. They also gave food preparation demonstrations at Vines and Williams to promote the class.

Fur trapper speaks to Outdoor Ed

National preoccupation with physical fitness was reflected in the curriculum of the physical education classes. Emphasis was placed on proficiency in individual sports which could be continued and enjoyed into later years.

In tennis classes, students learned the basics of the sport and had the opportunity to test their skills in singles, doubles and mixed doubles matches against classmates.

Coed gymnastics classes included mastering basic stunts and floor routines before graduating to more difficult tricks like the balance beam and vault.

In another popular class, Outdoor Education, students enjoyed actual experiences in hunting, camping and fishing. Gun and boat safety were stressed. Students practiced canoeing in the PSHS pond and shooting on the ROTC rifle range.

Other individual sports offered by the P.E. department were bowling, golf, body mechanics, archery, handball and raquetball.

Students also enjoyed competitive team sports like basketball, football, volleyball, softball, and badminton.

Greenhouse care extends to ag farm

Whether in the confines of a greenhouse or the atmosphere of a farm, growing things thrive on tender loving care of interested students.

While Plano suffered its coldest winter in recent history, over 5,000 plants bloomed in the new campus greenhouse for Horticulture I and II students.

Rare plants grown included a Norfolk Pine, a pink blooming cyclamus and a staghorn fern.

Sheep, calves, dairy heifers, pigs and rabbits were among the varied animals cared for and shown competitively by agriculture students. The ag program enjoyed a growth in the number of girls who participated in area competition like the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show. As a fund raising project, agriculture students raised a calf for butchering and sold it on Spring Day.

Students receive credits, wages

Students in five vocational programs gained credit for working.

HECE (Home Economics Consumer Education), DE (Distributive Education), ICT (Industrial Cooperative Training), CVAE (Coordinated Vocation and Academic Education), and VOE (Vocational Office Education) each had a separate club which supported the programs during out-of-school activities and fund-raising efforts.

VOE's study of office work included learning how to run electric typing and duplicating machines and also how to keep business records.

Filing income tax returns and practicing good employer-employee relationships were useful skills HECE touched upon.

DE dealt with preparing each student for management of his or her own business.

ICT helped students coordinate their on-the-job skills with practical knowledge of taxes and opportunities in industry.

Academics and occupations were stressed in CVAE where students studied safety and consumer economics to allow them to be self-sufficient upon graduation.

6) Senior Rodney Parker processes an "extra cheese, sausage, mushrooms, and hold the anchovies" order while working at Fargo's Express as part of his HECE involvement.

Class workshops serve community

For the second consecutive year, a wide variety of vocational courses were offered.

Included in the curriculum for the vocational-oriented student were two and three hour block classes of Cosmetology, Building Trades, Metal Trades, Printing, Drafting, Auto Paint and Body, Auto Mechanics, Industrial Electronics, Radio and T.V., and Refrigeration and Air Conditioning.

Workshop time was provided within vocational block programs where students learned specific job oriented skills. Several school shops were opened to the public. Student mechanics worked on automobile engines while Auto Paint and Body students repainted exteriors of cars. Many Planoites took advantage of the minimal rates.

Cosmetology set up an appointment calendar to cut and style hair in their complete beauty salon. Student beauticians studied new hair styling techniques with professional guest stylists. With the two year training program available, it was the ultimate goal of the girls to take the state board exam in Austin to become beauticians.

Mr. Paul Mackey headed the always busy Printing department. Special work for the year included printing of the Vines and Williams High School newspapers, the Curriculagram newspaper designed for the faculty, and leaflets for various PSHS clubs including the 1977 drill team calendar.

Skilled students construct house

In a joint project, building trades students constructed a four-bedroom house with air conditioning students installing the cooling and heating systems. In air conditioning classes, the group experimented with solar energy and designed insulation equipment.

Apprenticeships in television shops gave radio and television students on-the-job training. Labs in electrical procedure and electronics were incorporated into actual television repairs.

Three girls took advantage of the ERA by joining the drafting classes, where they could receive basics in mechanical and architectural drawing. They will have a better chance of starting work at higher wages than a secretary after two years of training.

Early graduation prompts debate

Student Senate members spent much of their time discussing school policies such as early graduation and prom attendance. The concensus was in favor of allowing early graduates to attend the senior prom but proposed legislation was not enacted.

Meeting each day, the Senate consisted of four junior and four senior representatives from each of the three sub schools. Student Senate sponsored a National Student Government Day workshop in the spring. Student councils from area junior high schools attended the day-long workshop were students led discussions of campus government, leadership skills, and public speaking.

With funds from Student Senate-sponsored dances, the group purchased a dollar-changing machine for the cafeteria.

More than 90 students were inducted into the Edelweiss Chapter of the National Honor Society. Inductees, holding an average of 92 or above, were tapped out during their third period classes. A reception was given in their honor following the tapping out. A formal induction followed in the evening in the Media Commons Building.

Two classes unite under new subschool student councils

In hopes of creating a feeling of unity between the grade levels, the subschool concept was implemented. Each subschool had a student council made up of 40 students (20 juniors and 20 seniors) that were elected by students in their respective subschools in the early fall. The three subschools often combined efforts for major projects such as the Homecoming dance and took turns sponsoring victory dances after home football games.

The Delta Student Council, sponsored by Assistant Principal Jack Garner, provided refreshments for the Homecoming dance. To boost student participation in the FBLA sponsored Dance-A-Thon, Delta Council sponsored Delta's Lauren Cannon and Gamma's Tom Quigley. The Delta Student Council also took charge of the publicity for the annual Sadie Hawkins Day dance.

Under the supervision of Assistant Principal Roy Lamb, the Beta Student Council provided the band, "Reunion," for the annual Homecoming dance. Beta student council members sold Wildcat bumper stickers with the proceeds going for Bermuda grass to be planted on the east side of the cafeteria by the Beta Lounge.

Council plans school calendar

With the help of Mr. Archie McAfee, assistant principal, the Gamma Student Council designed decorations for the Homecoming dance, and painted donated trash cans, which were placed in the student parking lot to help eliminate the litter problem. A student suggestion box was provided by Gamma members for ideas from the student body.

While the student councils were busy planning activities, the Presidents Council worked to publicize the upcoming events.

The council worked as a P.A. system to filter out information to the members and attempted to reach the student body.

The President's Council met once a month with advisor Sherman Millender to make up the month's activity calendar.

Squad supports Sherman in playoffs

It was a new twist for Plano cheerleaders to support another district 13-AAAA team but that's exactly what happened after Plano lost its first district title since 1969 to the Sherman Bearcats.

In an unprecedented move, the varsity cheerleaders traveled to Sherman for a special pep rally to cheer the Bearcat team on to a state victory.

Friendship and cooperation came naturally to the ten girls who began their season together in July at a workshop held at Southern Methodist University in Dallas. Besides winning a spirit stick at SMU, they were finalists for the award of Excellence — an award for which only six squads could qualify.

Gaining momentum, the girls returned to Plano to hold a workshop of their own for area junior high cheerleaders.

By the time school started, the girls were ready to spread their enthusiasm by leading yells and performing skits for the pep rallies and football games. The girls also sold spirit ribbons to the student body and painted signs for lockers and walls.

Football mothers were honored at a special pep rally where the cheerleaders presented each one with a mum corsage.

Basketball season saw no let down in the girls' activities as they cheered for both girls and boys varsity teams. At the girls opening game, the cheerleaders presented the team with a cake for good luck. For the boys' basketball season, they made spirit boosters and held two pep rallies for the team.

During baseball season, the cheerleaders sold "bleacher bums" t-shirts to increase crowd enthusiasm. Besides cheering at varsity games, the cheerleaders held a special pep rally in the spring to honor members of the baseball and soccer teams.

Squads promote enthusiasm at games

To promote additional spirit at all home athletic events, a pep squad was organized under the direction of English instructor Beth Stewart. One of the first activities for the Spiritettes was participation in the annual Christmas parade, sponsored by the Plano Jaycees. The nineteen Spiritettes, dressed in maroon and white uniforms, added color to the parade.

Working closely with the cheerleaders, the Spiritettes learned cheers and developed routines to perform from the stands. Flash cards used for the first time by the girls promoted spirit among the fans.

Although limited in their activities, the eight junior varsity cheerleaders succeeded in raising the spirits of their classmates and team players as they led cheers at both junior varsity football and basketball games.

During football season, the girls participated in the Homecoming pep rally where the varsity cheerleaders presented them with maroon and white corsages.

Concern shows in the face of junior Celeste Hickey at a JV basketball game.

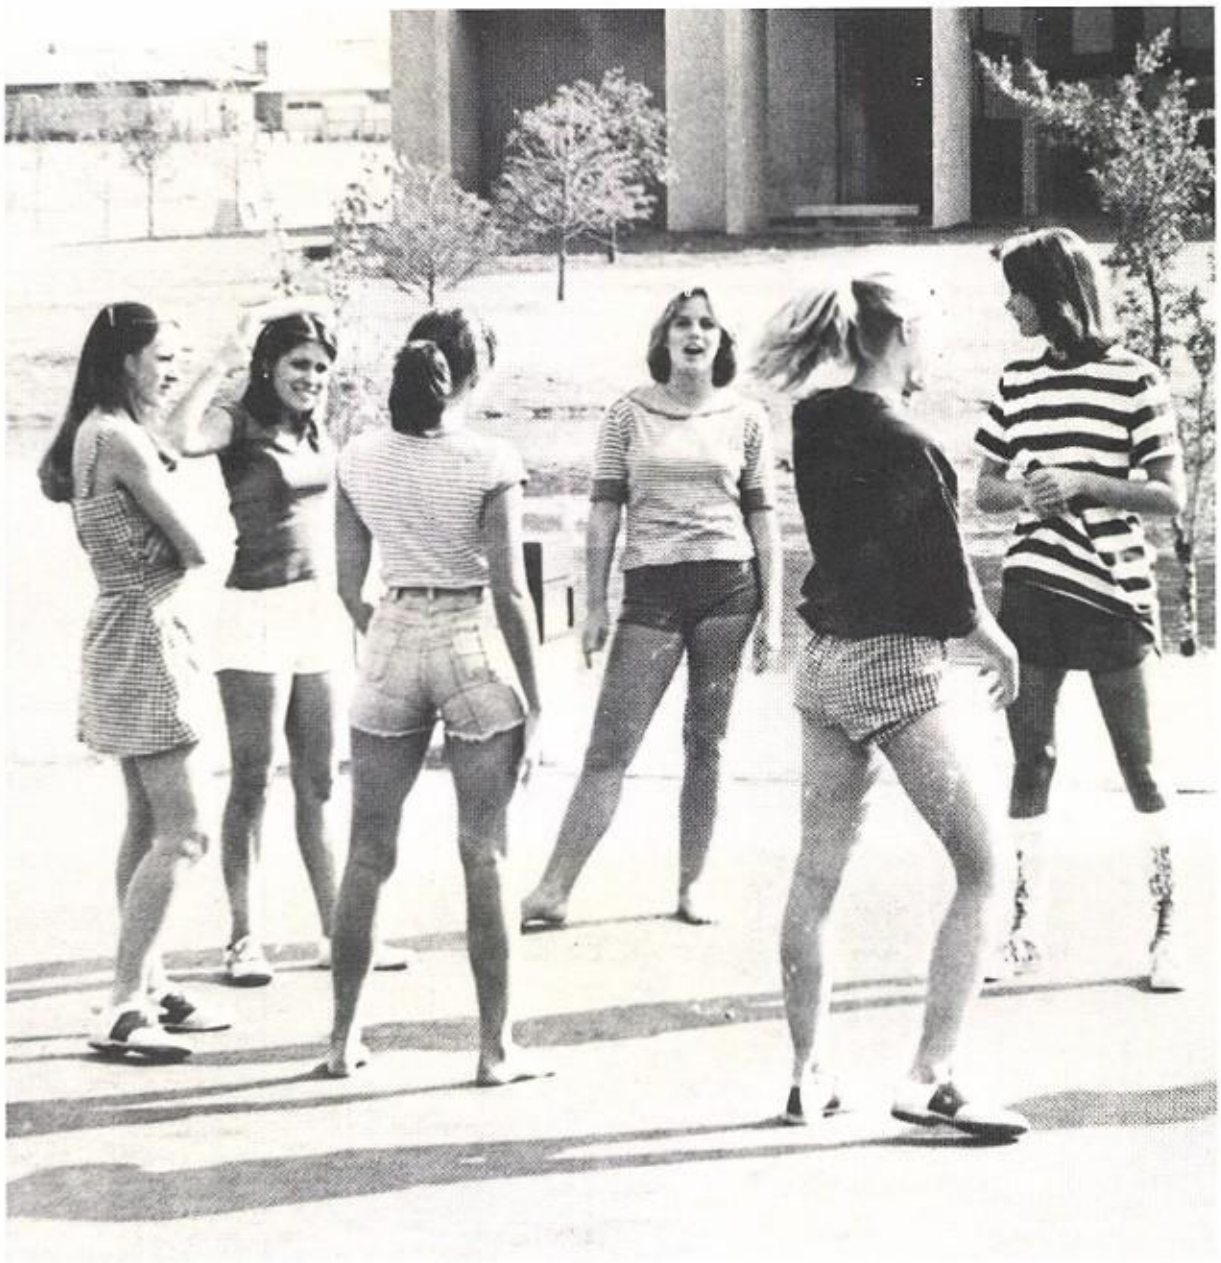
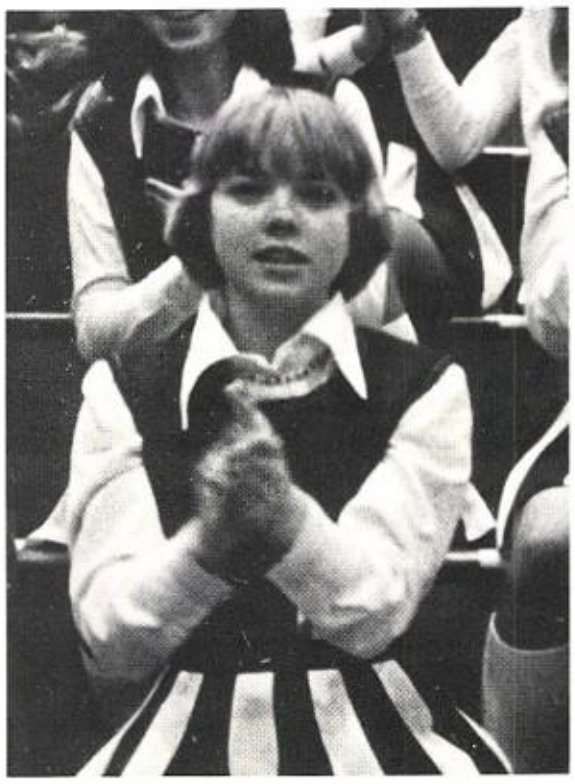
To generate enthusiasm at the basketball game, the Spiritettes display their flash cards.



Sixth period provides a good time for the JV cheerleaders to discuss new routines and practice for the week's performance.



As a member of the newly organized pep squad, junior Pam Fletcher cheers from the stands in the gymnasium.

Planoettes excel at Blue and Gold

An extra plus was added to the Planoette drill team as the size of the squad was increased by ten members to a total of 65.

Delighting audiences with their new routines, the Planoettes performed at pep rallies, football and basketball games, and marched in Plano's Christmas parade.

Under the direction of Mrs. Phyllis McNeill, the Planoettes captured first division ratings in competition prop, jazz, and high kick to win the Sweepstakes trophy and the coveted President's trophy, with each judge giving all ones, at the annual Blue and Gold contest at East Texas State University.

On behalf of the Planoettes, officers Beth Arnold, Mary Helen Kelley, Kim Burton, Lori Bostian and Amy Barth, along with sponsor Mrs. Phyllis McNeill, accept the sweepstakes trophy at the prestigious Blue and Gold contest.

Planoettes are all smiles as they conclude their prop routine at the annual Blue and Gold Drill Team contest where the group wins both the President's and the Sweepstakes award for the first time in their competitive history.

Drill team members and their parents celebrate the Christmas season as they unite at the Planoette's annual holiday banquet.

Ending half-time ceremonies with the traditional high kick routine at the Plano vs. Berkner football game are senior Pam McCreary and junior Debra Felske.

For a pep rally skit, Planoettes Kim Burton, Lynette Stanley and Sheri Felske re-enact sideline incidents from football games.

Marching band reaches $10,000 goal for trip to Kansas City contest

Playing to a different beat, the Wildcat band reached great heights under the supervision of their new director, Tom Bennett.

In the UIL marching contest, the band's weeks of practice were rewarded with the only No. 1 rating any Plano band attained during the year. For the contest, the band performed precision drills to "Quajada," the "Rockford Files," and "Feelings." In review by the judges, the band's music was cited as "a credit to themselves and the school" while they were also noted for the way they attacked the field.

Fund raising activities for the band included selling popcorn, cookbooks, magazines, records, and fertilizer periodically through the year.

The profit from these projects added to the money already earned through their paper drives, garage sales, and car washes. The members reached their final goal of $10,000 to be used for the band to take part in concert contests at Six Flags Over Texas and The Worlds of Fun Band Festival in Kansas City, Mo.

Special performances during the year included a public concert in the Fine Arts Building theatre and participation in the school's spring musical "Oklahoma!"

STRING ENSEMBLE: Marilyn Evans, Steve Morrison, Ernie Chandler, Joyce Armstrong.

Ensemble debuts at city concert

String Ensemble, in its first year at the Senior High, made its debut with great expectations.

In November, the group participated in the all-city concert, performing "Colorado Suite" by Feise, "Plink, Plank, Plunk" by Anderson, and "Herald Quartet" by Doncla. At Christmas, the ensemble joined with the choral department to play the "Many Moods of Christmas" by Shaw. In February the group joined other school bands to fill the orchestra pit for the spring musical "Oklahoma!"

Stage band improvised on tunes from contemporary jazz, through the blues to rock. They appeared in public concerts with other bands and as a special activity, the stage band played during lunch in the spring. For their efforts they received a No. 1 rating at the band contest in White Settlement.

A unique fire routine is performed by third-year twirler Liz Shields as a highlight of her halftime show.

Campus site of UIL contest . . . Hushed, tense atmosphere reigns

Unless experienced in competition, it's almost difficult to imagine the hushed, tense atmosphere which reigned inside the Fine Arts Building during the Region III and VII University Interscholastic League Choral Concert and Sight-reading Contest in April. The contest, held for the first time on Plano's campus, drew 86 area choirs.

Plano's Concert Choir performed "The Lament of the Enchantress," "Sing Praises Ye Faithful," and "Silent Devotion and Response." The first Girls Choir (girls in concert choir) sang "The Pelican," "I Heard You," and "Gloria." The second girls choir sang a "Girls Garden," "There is Sweet Music," and "Hosanna." Sweepstakes titles were taken by the Concert Choir and the Second Girls Choir. First Girls Choir received a One rating and a score of Two for performance.

Southern hospitality was experienced first hand by the choral department students as they journeyed to the Six Flags Over Georgia Choir Festival in April. Money for the trip to Atlanta was raised in conjunction with the choir boosters. Working together, students sold lightbulbs and wrapping paper. They also held a spaghetti supper for the public in the commercial foods room.

In the All-Region Choir tryouts, four students qualified for All-Region Choir while three advanced to All-State tryouts — this was the most ever! In the Solo and Ensemble Contest, 52 students brought back 47 medals. These included 36 first division ratings and 11 second division ratings. The Girls Pop Singers returned with a first division rating. They were competing with choirs from 14 districts.

Choirs schedule Public concerts

Between preparing for and participating in contests, the choir scheduled public concerts. In October, the Concert Choir and Pop Singers joined together for an appearance at the North Central Texas Principal's Meeting. All five choirs participated in the annual Holiday Harmonies concert in December. Selections included "Many Moods of Christmas," "The Marvelous Toy," "Has Anybody Seen Christmas," and excerpts from Handel's "Messiah."

Pop singers were divided into two groups, "Harmony" (the girls pop singers) and "The Music Corporation" (the mixed group). The two groups sang together for the District X Texas Teacher's Association, the Lions Club, and a concert at Weatherford Elementary School. Harmony also sang for a women's civic group and the American Lung Society banquet at Northpark Inn.

Choir members await their turn on stage in concert competition.

ROTC coordinates corps activity between high schools

ROTC kept a hectic schedule coordinating groups from the two high schools with the Senior High Corps.

In August, the cadets traveled to Texas A&M University to participate in the annual Corps Day activities. The advent of football season saw the return of the traditional ROTC Color Guard and Honor Guard at every home game. Fall was also highlighted by the JROTC Wildcat Rifle Drill Team sweeping the annual competition at the State Fair of Texas.

Planning at the time was underway for the annual Homecoming Pass in Review, the Jaycees Christmas Parade, a spring recruiting drive and the Military Ball. To raise money for the events, the cadets held hamburger dinners before each home football game, car washes, garage sales on weekends, and a Turkey Shoot.

The two big events of the year, the Military Ball and the Annual Formal Inspection, came within weeks of each other creating planning problems.

In spite of the hectic schedule and change of school calendar quarters, Plano's ROTC achieved an outstanding rating by the Army team of inspectors.

FTA elects Ross

At the District Future Teachers of America Convention held at Plano in November, senior Randy Ross was elected Mr. FTA for the 76-77 school year, qualifying him for state competition. Junior Judy Dale was elected District X vice-president for the 77-78 school year.

FTA members were involved with many fund raising activities including selling suckers on "Lick 'Em Cats" day and popcorn balls on Halloween. To show their appreciation for teachers during American Education Week, the group presented each of the school's 127 teachers with a carnation.

All 31 club members helped create new FTA chapters at schools in the district including Vines and Williams high schools.

FTA members Judy Dale, Lori VanderBreggen, Kathe Surles, Randy Ross with their sponsor Linda Whitehurst are Plano's District X representatives.

FBLA, Key Club sponsor dance

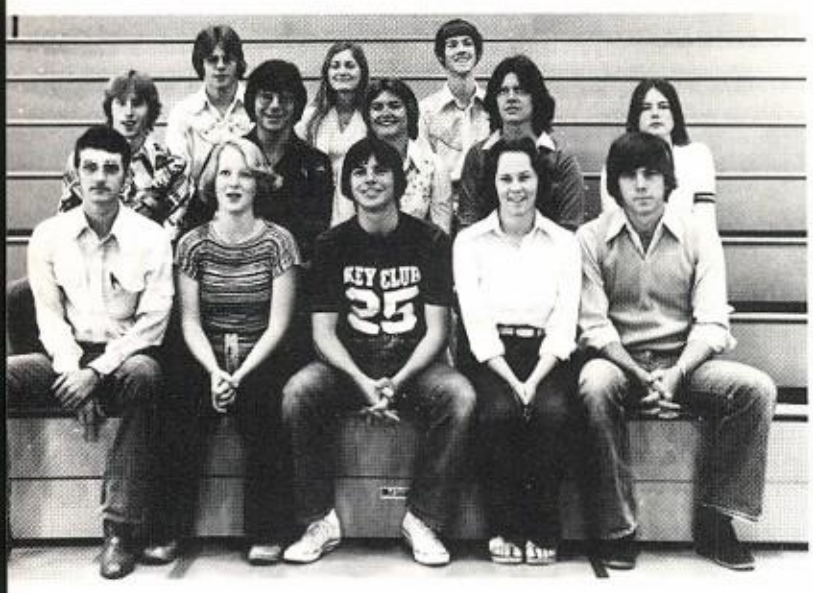
Sixteen hours of dancing brought in over $6,700 as the Future Business Leaders of America and Key Club combined efforts to sponsor the Muscular Dystrophy Dance-A-Thon for the second straight year.

FBLA raised funds for activities by selling candy and holding covered dish suppers. Ten students qualified for state contests in skill competition.

Charitable work was continued by Key Club during the year as they sponsored the March of Dimes Walk-A-Thon for the city. The group sold snow cones during the fall at home football games and attended the regional convention in Oklahoma in the spring.

Saving one of the oldest houses in Plano was the major project of the Junior Historians this year. The group's largest fundraiser to benefit the George House was a city-wide Walk-A-Thon that raised almost $2000. Junior Historians also manned a concession stand at the Plano's Arts and Crafts Fair in October and held bake sales in the spring.

In support of Plano's annual Heritage Tour at Christmas, senior Randy Brown uses greenery to decorate Plano's Heritage House.



Raising money to attend the state contest, FBLA member Liz Shields sells a candy bar to junior Rhonda Raiden.

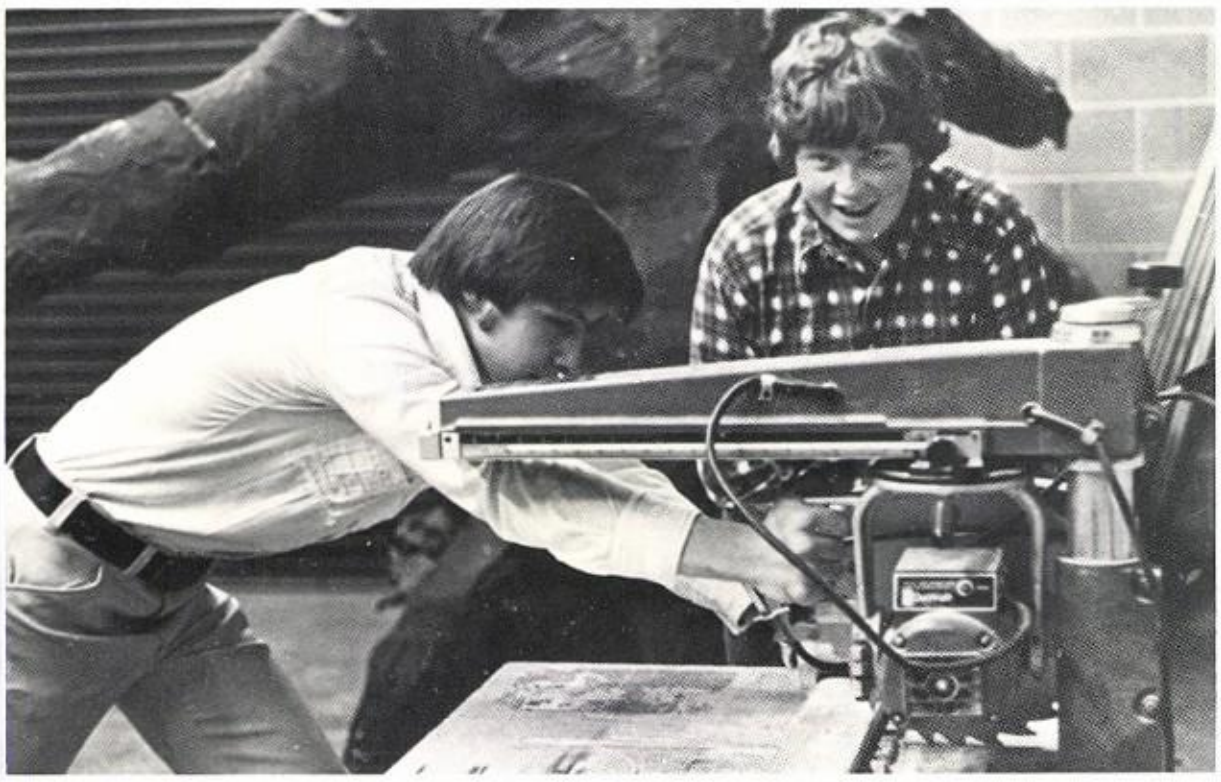
Proceeds from plays help pay for orchestra pit cover

Thespians sponsored the production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Count Dracula." The proceeds from the plays helped fund the covering of the school's orchestra pit. The group used "Joan of Lorraine" as their entry in one-act play competition.



Senior Dick Broussard and junior Sid Adams build scenery for drama's production of "Joan of Lorraine."

National Forensic League members attended more than 20 speech tournaments in the North Texas area. Members finished high in competition, capturing five sweepstakes trophies and over 50 individual trophies. The group also acted as host for three speech tournaments held on the Plano Senior High campus. Spring activities included a trip to Six Flags.

Thespians spoof the opponent's homecoming in a skit at a Friday morning pep rally.

Supervising as their premier publication goes to press, are Art Club members Renee Tanner, Robert Ulbik and John Shoptaugh. Printing students Jeff Warner and Mike McMahon work to reproduce the limited edition of 200 lithography books.

Arts-limited edition of lithographs sell at Spring Day

Original drawings done by Art Club students were assembled along with poetry in a special publication entitled simply "Lithographs 200." The line and shaded drawings formed a collection of 20 original works of art which were printed by the campus print shop in a limited edition of 200. The books were sold for $2 each at the annual Spring Day celebration.

Student artists reaped many awards during the year with four of the ten high school portfolios selected for state competition being from PSHS. Two students received scholarships on the basis of the portfolio competition. One of the highest art awards in the state went to senior Pat Reilly as he won the Roy L. Beard Scholarship for $1,000 to Southwest Texas State. Another outstanding achievement went to senior Linda Helton as she won a $500 scholarship from Seventeen Magazine for her multi-medium illustration entitled "Raspberries" which appeared in the January issue.

Art Club students set up a sidewalk art show for Spring Day where they drew caricatures and portraits.

AP Biology Club sold caramel apples in the fall to fund their summer camping trip to the Texas coast. During the year, the group hiked around wooded areas and worked to keep the PSHS pond free from debris.

As part of their environmental studies, biology students surveyed a natural wilderness area within the city limits of Plano. It will be set aside to be preserved in its natural state in an effort by the School Board.

Math contests, stock investments marked by numbers

Numbers figured prominently in the activities of the Math, Computer Math and Investment clubs.

Investment Club members bought into Telex and American Bio Medical with a minimum deposit of $10. Mr. David Hedreen, club broker and advisor, met with the club at several of the evening meetings. To further their knowledge of the stock market, the members visited the Claton Brokerage Compdny in Dallas.

Computer Math Club members were involved in contests throughout the year. In the spring, three members attended a contest at SMU and took part in a Region X contest where they entered a computer program.

Seniors represented the Math Club in a contest at Hockaday, while others entered a UIL speed math competition in April.

Departments cooperate to produce school publications

Students turned authors as the Perspicacity staff published the literary magazine. The staff was comprised of students from journalism, printing, art and English.

Beginning early, staff members of the Planonian won a trophy for their work in designing a model yearbook at the SMU Journalism Workshop. Art Major Studies class entered art work from which the cover and table of contents for the 1977 Planonian were selected.

Student art also played an important role in the campus newspaper. Cartooning by senior Pat Binder added variety to the front page of Wildcat Tales.

Wildcat Tales designed a nameplate depicting the multi-building campus for the newspaper's cover. The paper was awarded "Best Paper" at the Dallas Times Herald's 27th Journalism Day.

Christmas carols give knowledge of many cultures

Visits to a Fauvist exhibition, a Moliere play, and dinner at the Chablis Restaurant left French Club members with an aura of France.

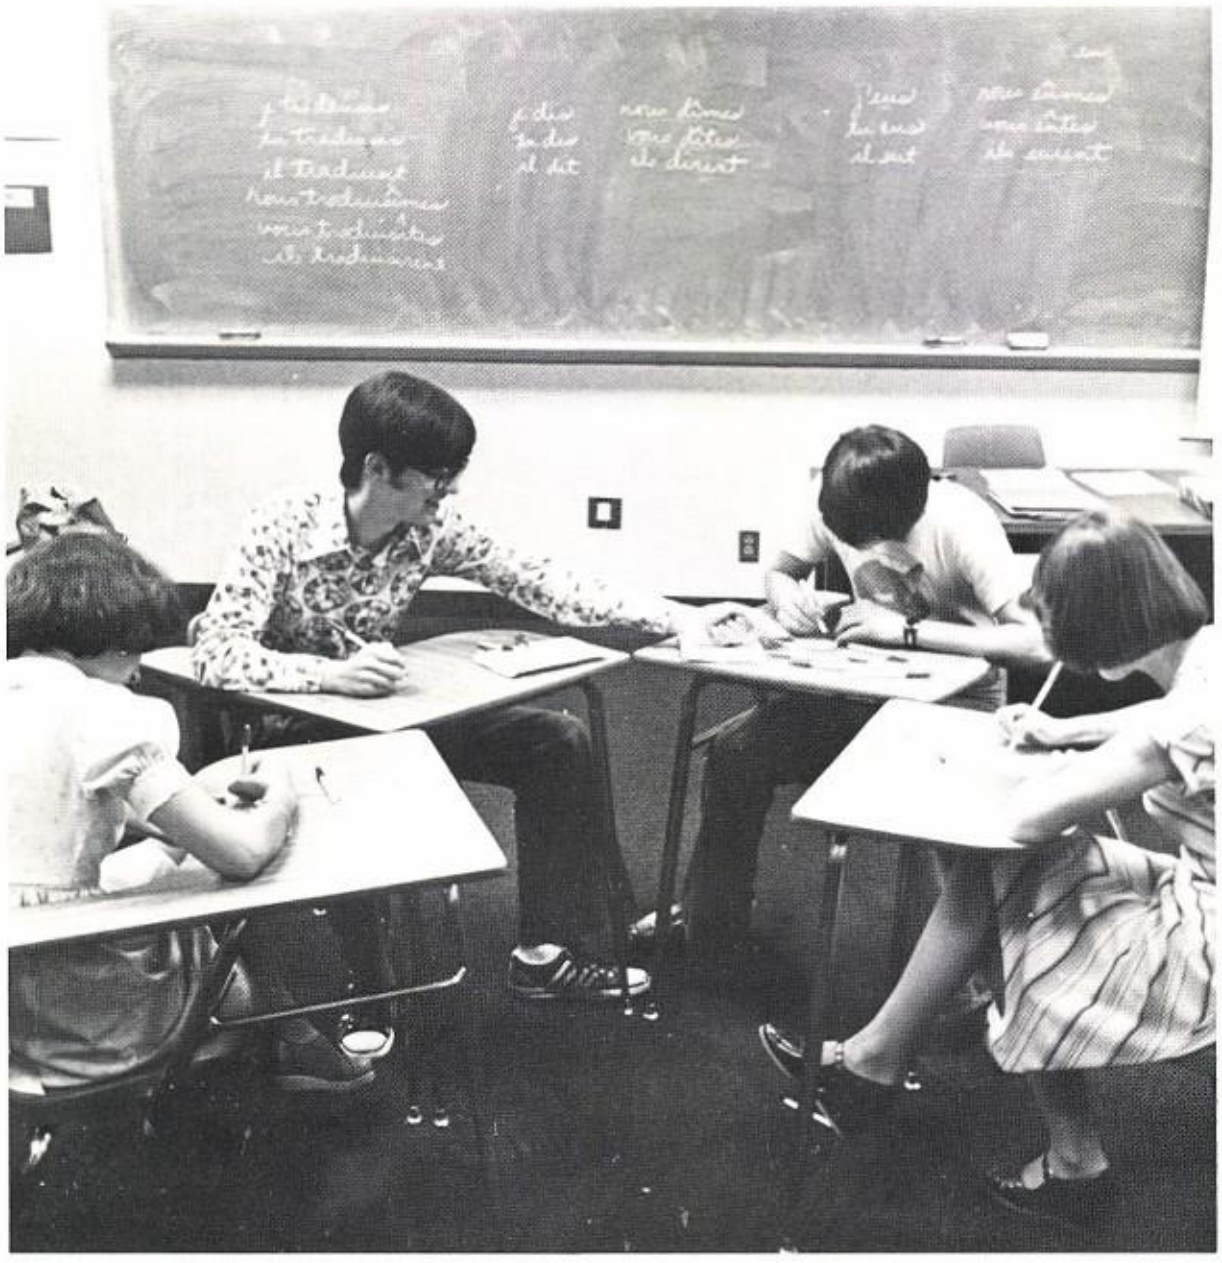
Further knowledge of French culture was established at a Christmas party with carols sung in French.

A visit by Dr. Visune of North Texas State University Language Department provided a slide presentation of French customs.

Profit making activities were strictly American, though, with fundraisers including a concession stand at a home football game and selling turkey grams at Thanksgiving. The group also formed a flag football team for intramural competition.

Attending the Novemberfest at UTA and holding a Christmas carolling party were a few of the German Club's activities.

German Club members held bake sales to finance their trip to Kuby's Restaurant and to donate funds to a German public radio station.



Designing Glou Glou grams for their annual Thanksgiving project are French Club members Karen Rose, Tim Wilson, Tom Morris and Mary Beth Skelnick. "Glou Glou" is the French translation for "Gobble Gobble."

Carnation sales hit record high

A record number of 1,500 carnations were sold by the Spanish Club in their annual carnation sale. The club members and officers delivered the flowers to students on Valentines Day. In the spring, the officers attended a Pan American Student Forum Convention in San Antonio, where they elected state officers.

Latin Club promoted appreciation for the Latin language and classical civilization by presenting a slide show on ancient Rome. Club members also participated in a Latin contest.

At the Spanish Club initiation party, junior Lee Barnett plays a limbo game. Fun and games also include singing and bobbing for jalepeno peppers.

Students flock to the goodies in the cafeteria when the Latin Club sponsors a bake sale.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes highlighted their year with a Super Rally co-sponsored by both the girls and boys huddles. The event, open to the public, featured professionals and celebrities. A sing-along was held jointly by the huddle groups in December and February.

To earn money for members to attend national camp, the girls ran concession stands at athletic events while the boys held an "Ugliest Man" contest on campus. Students donated money to the ugly nominees who adorned make-up and costumes for the two week long voting. Senior Dan Cahill won "Ugliest Man On Campus" by raising $97. The total amount raised for the project was $237.

Garment Design students mend clothes for classmates

Garment Design, a Future Homemakers of America oriented club, undertook the task of mending clothes for fellow students. Their biggest project, however, was drafting and creating spring fashions for their spring boutique.

They produced everything from T-shirts to sundresses and skirts to jackets as well as accessories. All of these things were sold by Garment Design menbers on Spring Day.

As stitches flew on one side of the campus, on the other side meals were prepared by Commercial Foods students. They provided high quality food for banquets, faculty luncheons and civic clubs. The meals they cooked varied from shrimp to Irish stew. On several occasions they also made desserts for students to purchase at lunch.

During football season, Commercial Foods students sold refreshments at football games and painted the Alma Mater song on a sign to be used at pep rallies. In February, they joined the FHA-HERO chapter to sponsor a Valentines dance. The dance was held in the Media Commons Building where Commercial Foods students served cookies and punch which they had prepared.

Riders, ropers rack up trophies in area rodeos

Ropers and bull riders brought home the trophies as members of the Rodeo Club participated in area shows. It wasn't just the guys who participated in the year's rodeo activities. Girls rodeoed and won awards to boot!

By holding a Lone Star High School Rodeo Association sanctioned rodeo in December at the Wylie arena, the Rodeo Club earned $1600. Three members qualified for the national finals in June.

Future Farmers of America varied their activities from judging livestock to participating in area shows. Acting as hosts for the district livestock show, the group entered and captured places in 19 categories. FFA members participated in the Fort Worth Exhibition, the Houston Exhibition, the North Texas Fair, and the Texas State Fair. To earn money, the club members raised a calf for butchering and sold the beef at the Spring Day festivities.

Vocational clubs sweep district

Between collecting gifts to send to Terrell State Home and taking field trips to places like Neiman Marcus, Office Education Association members prepared for their annual district contest. Five members placed at the district contest. OEA members prepared mass mailings for local businesses and manned two concession stands at a home football game. Money earned was used to hold an employer-employee banquet in the spring. The Lori Wensel Memorial Award, established this year to recognize outstanding vocational office education students, was presented to OEA member Sherry Cansler at the banquet.

Fund raising activities for Industrial Cooperative Training — VICA included selling Wildcat key chains and chocolate candy. Members raised almost $400 for the club. In memory of a senior student, the club members voted to give $50 to the Robert Foster Memorial Scholarship Fund.

In district competition, ICT was named the outstanding VICA club. The group also took second place in the Chapter Ceremonies Contest and placed third in Club Business Procedures at district. Other activities for the club were service projects like organizing a Toys for Tots drive held in the fall. An appreciation banquet was given for employers.

Printing for Plano schools, administrative offices and local civic clubs provided the necessary funds for the Printing-VICA to attend the district contest March 4-5 in Sherman. Students entered in displays and skills contests. First places were taken in both categories by printing club members.

In hopes of competing in a district VII contest, Printing-VICA member Mike Mackey studies a negative in a preliminary speed skill contest.

Who's Who 1977

Who's Who on Campus is an honor bestowed on fifteen seniors whose accomplishments and activities in high school are outstanding. All seniors with a grade average of at least 80 are eligible for nomination.

Members of the faculty and student body submit nominations for recognition. All nominees then complete a resumé of their school related activities in which they have participated during their junior and senior years.

A faculty committee reviews the resumés and selects fifteen seniors whom they feel warrant the title of Who's Who on Campus.

with a grade average of 97.25.

Senior cheerleader MARY DAVIS was active in Future Business Leaders of America, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and Future Homemakers of America. In both her junior and senior years, Mary was on Student Council and Student Senate. She served as secretary for the Student Senate during her senior year. While a senior Mary was selected by her classmates as a PSHS Beauty Finalist and a 1976 Homecoming Queen Nominee.

Hoping to become a teacher, RANDY ROSS was mainly involved in FTA work. He served as president during his senior year and was selected as District X Mr. FTA. Randy was second runner up for Mr. FTA of Texas during his senior year. A wide range of activities from Acappella Choir to varsity football took much of his time as a junior. He switched his sports interest from football to basketball in his senior year. He was a member of National Honor Society and was selected Senior Class Favorite.

MEGAN PEEK was very active in the choir and drama departments at PSHS. She was a two-year member of Concert Choir for which she served as president in her senior year. She sang with the Madrigal Singers and the Pop Singers in her senior year. During her junior and senior years, she made first division in the UIL Solo Ensemble Contest, participated in the State Theory Contest, made the second round in state auditions and was a member of the All-Region Choir. Megan had lead roles in the dramatic productions of "Fiddler on the Roof," "Midsummer Night's Dream," and "Aesop Fallables." Megan was a member of the French Club and served as president her senior year. She was in National Honor Society two years and was elected to the Student Council and Presidents' Council as a senior. Megan was a Merit Commended student and valedictorian of the Senior Class

JEANNE ANDERSON served the student body in many different ways. She was a varsity cheerleader in both 11th and 12th grades. In her senior year, she was head cheerleader. During her junior and senior years, she was active in Student Council and elected to the Student Senate. Jeanne was a member of the National Honor Society and the Future Business Leaders of America while at the Senior High. In 1976, she entered the UIL District and Regional Shorthand I Competition and placed third and first, respectively. She also placed third in FBLA State Shorthand Competition in 1977. The Key Club selected her for their sweetheart two years in succession. During her senior year, Jeanne was elected by her classmates as a PSHS Beauty Finalist.

As a member of the varsity tennis team, PAM ALLBRITTEN spent most of her out-of-class time practicing on the courts. She was a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. As a senior, Pam was elected to the Student Council. Well-liked by her fellow students, she was chosen 1976 Homecoming Queen. She was voted Key Club Queen during her Junior year prior to moving to PSHS and Valentine Sweetheart in her Junior year at Plano.

Student government was a big part of LAUREN CANNON's school life. Lauren was a member of both the Student Council and Student Senate. While a junior, she was secretary of the Student Council and as a senior she was president of the Student Senate. Lauren kept an active pace in her senior year as the Wildcat mascot. During 11th grade, she was a member of the Spanish Club. Lauren was active in both Future Business Leaders of America and National Honor Society. It was through FBLA competition that she won first in State Clerical Typing II in her senior year.

A varsity basketball and baseball player while at PSHS, TOM QUIGLEY was selected for the Second Team All-District Baseball in 1975-1976 and First Team All-District Baseball in 1976-1977. He was Honorable Mention All-District Basketball 1976-1977. As a member of Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Tom helped in the group's fundraising activities by competing in the "Ugliest Man on Campus" competition. Tom was Junior Class vice president and a senior member of the Student Council and Student Senate. Tom was elected Student Senate vice president. He was on the "Wildcat Tales" staff during his junior year and was a two-year staffer on the "Planonian." Tom served as assistant editor of the yearbook as a senior.

Student activities determine selection of Who's Who Busy is the only way to describe drama student PAULA COWLES. Paula was elected to Student Council two years and was co-chairman of her subschool during her senior year. As a junior, she was elected to Student Senate and served on the President's Council as a senior. Paula was also active in Spanish Club. Interested in music, Paula belonged to the Pop Singers and the Girls' Choir. As a junior, Paula had lead roles in "Imaginary Invalid" and "Caucasian Chalk Circle." She also starred in "Fiddler on the Roof" for which she received Best Supporting Actress. As a senior, Paula furthered her dramatic interests with parts in "Oklahoma," and "Midsummer Night's Dream." For two years, Paula made the All Star Cast in the UIL Contest Play. To top off her activities, Paula participated in area speech competition.

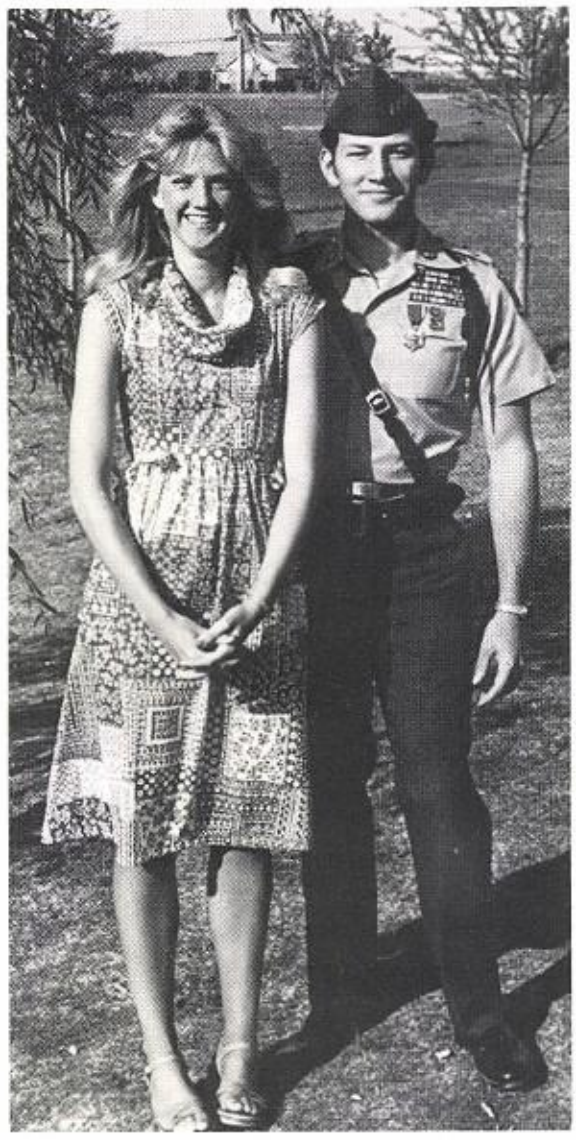
For JEFF RASP, writing was an important aspect of school. As a senior, he was the alternate for UIL English Essay Competition, had a poem published in the Perspicacity Literary Magazine and co-authored the introductory poem for the 1977 Planonian. Jeff was a member of National Honor Society during his senior year. A Social Studies Major Studies student, Jeff was chairman of the "Committee to Elect Carter" during the schoolwide elections.

Much of BETH ARNOLD's time was spent with the Planoettes. Beth was a member of the drill team during her junior and senior years. She served as Planoette Captain as a senior. At the annual Kilgore Summer Drill Team Camp, she was named Outstanding Performer. Beth was active in the French Club for two years. She was a member of Thespians in her junior year and a member of Future Homemakers of America her senior year. During the summer of 1976, Beth was one of three representatives from PSHS to attend Girls' State.

JEFF BRIDGES was very active in JROTC while at PSHS. He was on the JROTC Wildcat Rifle Team and received the P Award in JROTC in his junior year. He was chosen Battalion Commander as a senior and received an appointment to West Point Academy. Jeff was also active in the Concert Choir and Madrigal Singers. In both his junior and senior years, he won first in the UIL Solo-Ensemble Contest and was a UIL State Qualifier.



A class leader, BRIAN McCALL served as president of Student Council his junior year. As a senior, he was elected class president. Brian was a member of the Concert Choir and the Wildcat Tales staff. He was a United States High School Ambassador to Europe and the Soviet Union and a PSHS representative to Boys' State.

Drill team and student government kept MARY HELEN KELLEY busy. She was a member of the Planoettes two years and served as a Captain during her senior year. Mary Helen was a member of Student Council two years and was treasurer of the Student Senate as a junior. Carrying a high grade average, Mary Helen was a member of National Honor Society.

As an Art Major Studies student LINDA HELTON divided her time between work on the Planonian staff and the Art Club. Linda was treasurer of the Art Club as a junior and president during her senior year. Winning first place in the Seventeen Magazine illustration contest Linda had her work published in the magazine's February issue and was awarded a $500 scholarship which she will use at Texas Tech. Linda was a two-year staffer on the Planonian. She received a second scholarship from the Plano Art Association. With a grade average of 96.37 Linda was salutatorian of her graduating class.

JEFF HOUSE was active in National Honor Society and French Club during his junior and senior years. As a senior he played varsity football and varsity basketball. He was Honorable Mention in All District Football. Jeff was treasurer of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes as a junior and senior. Cats put ten on All-District teams, finish fourth in District 13-AAAA Plano's perennial domination of District 13AAAA football came to an abrupt halt in 1976.

Keen opposition spoiled the head coaching debut of Tommy Kimbrough. An inexperienced offense suffered from turnovers and penalties resulting in a season record of 6-2-2.

Senior Arlis James and junior John Gaddis were selected to the All District first team offense while defensive selections included seniors David Terry and Walter Ford. Others receiving All District recognition were seniors Bubba Willard and Jeff House and juniors C. M. Pier, Dee Herrin, Mike Pedigo, and Stevie Haynes.

The 1976 district opener was a defensive battle with Lake Highlands. Plano's pass rush and defensive backfield, led by Terry and seniors Greg Hinnrichs, Kyle Dryer and Steve Pedigo held Lake Highlands' quarterback to only three completions in 18 attempts. Junior Stevie Haynes booted a 24 yard field goal in the second quarter for the 3-0 win.

The Mustangs from J. J. Pearce galloped into Wildcat Stadium only to receive a 30-0 thrashing. Plano's offense chewed up Pearce for 293 yards on the ground and 129 in the air. The defense held the Mustangs to minus three yards rushing and 78 yards passing. Senior quarterback Tony LaPlante completed 9 of 14 passes and junior Larry Albertson rushed for 94 yards to lead the Wildcats.

1) Dropping back to pass is junior John Gaddis (28). He completed one pass and ran for 127 yards as the Cats tied the No. 1 ranked Sherman Bearcats, 13-13.

2) In Plano's district opener against Lake Highlands, a stout defensive effort by linebacker Johnny McKenzie (82) and tackle Arlis James (77) holds the opponents scoreless as the Cats win 3-0.

3) Defensive backs David Terry (30) and Kyle Dreyer (31) tackle a Lion running back on the rain-spattered field in Greenville. Plano dropped the district match 15-6.

4) Quarterback Tony LaPlante (21) finds open field against J. J. Pearce. LaPlante led Plano in a 30-0 romping over the Mustangs as he ran for two touchdowns and threw for 129 yards.

5) Senior Greg Hinnrichs (26) bulls down a Paris runner. Plano topped Paris 35-0.

6) In motion for the Wildcats, tight end Jim Bob Puckett (85) gets ready to catch one of the six receptions he made against Denison. Plano lost in their homecoming battle 14-9.

Cats dominate in penetrations

The big showdown in Sherman turned out to be one of the greatest district efforts in Plano's history. Plano, unranked in the state polls although undefeated, faced the number one ranked Bearcats. The game kept nearly 9,000 fans on their feet as the Wildcats fought for a 13-13 tie. Plano was declared the victor on penetrations, 4-3. Haynes rallied the Wildcats in the last two minutes of the game, catching passes of 12 and 16 yards to set up his 35 yard field goal, to knot the score. Earlier, in the first half, Haynes threw a 60 yard touchdown strike to Herrin, and kicked a 25 yard field goal. Defensively Dreyer intercepted two critical passes and senior Johnny McKenzie recovered a fumble.

1) Junior John Gaddis dives over some Sherman Bearcats to gain Plano a first down.
2) Greg Hinnrichs (26), Kyle Dreyer (31) and Scott Ashby (87) show good defensive technique in bringing down a Lake Highlands runner.
3) Fullback Larry Albertson (35) breaks away for a five yard gain from a Berkner Ram in Plano's disappointing 6-6 tie game.
4) Senior Jim Bob Puckett (85) catches a pass from LaPlante to race 41 yards to gain a first down on the Plano 35 in the Plano-Denison game.
5) Larry Albertson takes advantage of a hole in the Denison defense and breaks away to score for Plano.

Title hopes drop as season ends

Seven turnovers by the Paris Wildcats led directly to four Plano touchdowns in a 35-0 romp. Plano's defense picked off five of Paris' passes and caused two fumbles. Quarterback LaPlante scored twice on runs of 12 and 1 yards. Albertson and Gaddis also scored.

The Berkner Rams surprised the Cats with a 6-6 tie. Plano was plagued by turnovers and penalties resulting in a mediocre 88 yards rushing and 49 yards passing. Plano's only touchdown was scored by LaPlante, and the extra point attempt sailed away.

The Wildcats continued to be undefeated by downing the Richardson Eagles 14-7. The Cats scored on Haynes' 49 yard punt return and LaPlante's three yard quarterback sneak. Plano rushed for 209 yards and held the Eagles to 69 total yards.

The season's turning point came against Greenville as the upset-minded Lions snuffed out Plano's hopes for another district title. The Cats' offensive efforts were thwarted while Greenville's ball control dominated the Cats for a 15-6 final score.

Denison's triumph over Plano spoiled the Wildcats' homecoming with a 14-9 decision. Plano passed and rushed for 186 and 107 yards respectively. Senior tight end Jim Bob Puckett caught six aerials from LaPlante. Plano out did Denison in every phase of the game; however, in the final minutes of play Denison's backup quarterback exploded for a 36 yard touchdown pass to his wide receiver which set the Cats behind 14-9.

The loss put the Wildcats at 6-2-2 for the season and 4-2-2 for district.

Junior varsity struggles to 5-3 season, looks to '77

The junior varsity football team compiled a season record of 5 wins and 3 losses under the supervision of coach Rommie Maxey. Highlights of their efforts were games against J. J. Pearce, Dallas Kimball and Greenville, In all three outings, the offense added an extra punch while the defense held the opposition at key times in the games.

Against Pearce, the Cats won their hardest fought game of the season. Pearce, undefeated going into the game, left with a different taste in their mouth as the Wildcats won 14-7. Ricky Truitt and Mike Todd took handoffs from Brad Long and combined to rush for 170 yards. Terry Hill returned a punt for a touchdown late in the fourth quarter which meant the difference in the game.

Kimball came out on the short end of the stick as Plano plastered the Knights 35-0. The offense rolled up 500 yards while the defense had their first shutout, plus holding Kimball to only two first downs.

Plano's pride came through against Greenville as they cut the Lions 22 point margin short by 3 points. In the third quarter rally, Quarterback Jamie Oakry passed for 200 yards to receivers Bill Talor, Ken Wilson and Terry Hill. Offensive guard, John Muns, blocked well on sweeps for big gains. The game ended 25-19.

Next year, the junior varsity Cats, along with sophomore players graduating from Vines and Williams will make up the varsity squad and work to regain Plano's district 13-AAAA title.

Varsity cagers lose season opener; win rematch with Irving in overtime

Plano's cage season opened in Irving. The Cats, under the supervision of new head coach Mike Bridges, manned the court with only one returning starter, senior Norman Hall, and two other lettermen, seniors Dwayne Majors and Tom Quigley.

In the opener, Plano took a commanding lead from the first tip; however, the Cats dropped a seven point advantage midway through the final period as Irving tied the game 59-59. Because of a height disadvantage, Plano was unable to regain a lead and lost the game 67-65. Plano's quick moving offensive game resulted in four players in double figures. Quigley hit 22 points while Hall followed with 14 points. Senior Regie Stimpson racked up 12 points and junior Flip Redden tipped in 11.

In the rematch with Irving, the Cats walked away with a victory in overtime 69-67.

District play started earlier than in the past with the Cats hoping to defend the district crown which they won in '75-'76.

Against Lake Highlands, in the first round of district play, the Wildcats lost in overtime 62-56. The second time Plano and Lake Highlands met though was a different story. The Wildcats out-paced their opponents both offensively and defensively. Majors was the big scorer for Plano. The crafty 5'11" senior was able to find holes in the Lake Highlands defense as he scored 27 points and the Wildcats won 67-61.

J. J. Pearce gave the Wildcats trouble in both their outings. The much taller Mustangs edged the Wildcats 86-81 and 77-73 in overtime. Plano's fast breaking and double teaming tactics on defense gave them a 44-34 halftime lead in the first game, but the Cats tired and their lead diminished. Again, Majors paced the Wildcats with 28 points while Quigley hit 21.

1) Against Denison, starter Tom Quigley drives for two points. Quigley hit 20 points but the Cats lost 59-55.

2) Cagers huddle around coach Mike Bridges as they try to regroup against the Denison Yellowjackets.

3) Senior Norman Hall scores on a layup against Hurst L. D. Bell. Hall hit 15 points but the Wildcats lost 62-56.

4) Center Flip Redden hits 17 points against Corsicana and hauls down 14 rebounds. Plano beat Corsicana 86-73 and Redden made All-Tournament.

5) Starting forward Dwayne Majors leads Wildcat scorers with 28 points against J. J. Pearce.

Cagers press on

Sherman came back from a 13 point deficit as the Wildcat's turnovers led directly to a 61-60 loss. Plano entered the final quarter of play with a nine point lead but because of bad passes and violations, Sherman tied the game with 0:59 showing on the clock. A last second shot by a Bearcat forward from 25 feet pushed them ahead. In the second game, Plano completely dominated the Bearcats as Hall led scoring with 26 points followed by senior starter Steve Rogers with 14 and Plano won 68-63.

Paris was the only pushover team for the Wildcats in district competition. The Cats won twice 77-52 and 69-54. In the second game, Paris came out hot and took a first quarter lead, 19-8. Plano bounced back and led at half 32-30 and went on to win. Pacing the Cats was Hall who scored 18 points, followed by Quigley with 17 points, Redden and Rogers with 10 apiece and senior Kyle Dreyer kept the pressure on as he hit eight points in the final period.

2) Coming off the bench for Plano and hitting two points is senior Randy Ross.
3) Laying the ball up for the Cats is reserve Richard Campbell.
4) Senior Tom Quigley hits 16 points against the Eagles as Plano loses at home, 92-66.
5) Against Corsicana, in the Plano Invitational Tournament, forward Dwayne Majors leads scoring with 29 points.
6) Starting guard Steve Rogers leads the fast break against Grand Prairie. Rogers scored eight points as the varsity cagers lost in overtime 70-68.
7) In a non-district contest, Norman Hall shoots a foul shot.

Roundballers finish district 6-10; win season's finale over Denison

Steve Rogers, who moved to Plano in his senior year from Ohio, led the Wildcats with 18 points against Berkner but couldn't rally the Cats on to victory as Plano lost in the last minute 60-58. Berkner also dominated the second contest with the Wildcats because of their height advantage. Plano hardly got a second shot due to lack of rebounding and the cagers lost 74-66.

Plano won one and gave one away to the Greenville Lions. In the first game, the Cats played well and topped the Lions 70-59. In the second contest, because of turnovers in the final quarter, the Plano team lost 76-73.

Richardson, who went on to win the district title, drubbed the Wildcats 92-66 in their first meeting; however, the second contest was a different story. Plano outscored the Eagles in every quarter but the first although losing 53-50. Plano had four players in double digits as Hall had 14 points, Redden 13, and Majors and Rogers with 10 apiece.

Denison won the first half of district after they defeated Plano 59-55, but in the second half the Wildcats forced the Yellowjackets into a district playoff with Richardson as Plano won 59-44. The Wildcats held Denison in check with a stout 3-2 zone defense. Leading the scoring attack for Plano was Majors who scored 17 points while Quigley had 16.

The Wildcat's season was highlighted as they won the consolation championship in the Plano Invitational Tournament when they defeated Texarkana and Corsicana after losing to Grand Prairie. Flip Redden was named All-Tourney as he led the Cats with a 17 point average in the tournament. He hauled down 15 rebounds per game.

Plano's varsity roundballers finished with a 11-19 record and placed sixth in district with a 6-10 tally. Norman Hall was named to the second team All-District squad while Dwayne Majors and Tom Quigley were on the honorable mention list.

JV roundballers look to 1977-78

Junior Varsity basketballers ended their season with an overall record of 20-8 under the direction of Coach David Hannebutt. In pre-season play, Plano won important games over L. D. Bell and Irving.

In a close predistrict contest, the Cats edged the Irving Tigers 38-37 to open the season. Jamie Oakry's shot under the basket with only 15 seconds showing on the clock lifted the Wildcats to victory. It was a fitting end for a fourth quarter rally which began when the Cats were down 34-29.

Putting it all together in their biggest win of the season, the Cats demolished L. D. Bell 75-54. Falling behind after the first half, the JV cagers rallied to blow Bell off the court. Leading Plano's scoring was the hot shooting of Chris Sabonis who pumped in 23 points. Dalton Davis also shot in double figures with 12 points.

In district competition, the Cats suffered losses to Greenville, Pearce and Lake Highlands twice. Plano had big wins over the Denison Yellowjackets. In the first game, Gerald Lee scored 24 points as the Cats won 80-60. In the second game, Plano won 60-44. A last quarter rally behind the defensive pressure of C. M. Pier, who pulled down 13 rebounds and blocked five shots, gave Plano a win in the last game of the season.

By defeating the Yellowjackets, Plano reached the 20 game mark. They finished the season with a 20-8 record. A 12-4 record was posted in district play. "This year's success by the junior varsity could really help next year's varsity action," noted Coach Hannebutt.

1) While shooting in Plano's 56-35 loss to Irving, postman C. M. Pier is fouled.
2) Coach David Hannebutt gives last minute instructions to his junior varsity cagers before the Highland Park game.
3) Junior Gerald Lee puts in two points for the Cats as Plano tops Pearce 64-50.
4) Allen Heider jumps center to begin the second half of the game with the Denison Yellowjackets. Heider hit 10 points as Plano won 80-50.

Cats defend district title

Plano's girl varsity cagers won two tournaments, the Quinlan Tournament and the Plano Invitational, in preparation for defense of the district crown which they won in '75-'76. In the Quinlan Tournament, the girls faced stiff competition as they defeated Prairieland, 42-41, in semifinal action and Quinlan, 46-37, in the championship game. The Cats won their hometown tournament as they beat Sam Houston, 46-43, to win the first place trophy.

Returning from last year's squad were senior three-year lettermen Jean Zirkelbach and Kathy Patterson, and seniors Anne Arledge, Karen Smith, Dee Cathey, Melinda Smith, and juniors Kim Newton, Lorrie Marsh, and Mary Jo Vanderlinden.

Cagers romp through district 14-0

Girl cagers rallied throughout district with an undefeated record, 14-0. No team, except for the Richardson Eagles, proved to be tough competition. Going into the final quarter of play in the second meeting between the Wildcats and the Eagles, Plano held a mere 50-49 lead. A stout defense, led by guard Kathy Patterson and a record setting performance by Jean Zirkelbach, gave the Wildcats the win, 72-61, and a district title for the second year in a row. Zirkelbach was unstoppable as she swished the nets for 52 points.

Plano drew a bye in bi-district and was scheduled to play Conroe in a regional contest in College Station. Plano defeated the highly rated Tigers, 65-52.

In the Regional championship against South Oak Cliff, the girls played well until the final minutes of action when three Plano guards were benched because of foul trouble. SOC took advantage of the Cats as they outscored Plano 18-6, in the last quarter. Plano lost to the Golden Bears 54-47.

Plano finished 26-4 for the year. Four Wildcats were All-District choices. Zirkelbach was named Offensive Player of the Year while Patterson was first team guard. Seniors Anne Arledge and Melinda Smith made the second team All-District.

Wildcats win debut over Lewisville

Plano's varsity baseball team started their 30 game schedule at Wildcat Field as they defeated the Lewisville Farmers 10-0.

Hopes for a successful season lay in the hands of two returning starters and six additional returning lettermen from the team of 1976. Seniors Greg Hinnrichs and Tom Quigley were the starters while the lettermen were senior outfielders Andy Caulo and Bob Levinski, senior infielders Rick Call and Doug Fleming, junior pitcher Steve Morrison, and senior catcher Ed Bailey.

The Cats jumped out in an early lead over Lewisville in the first inning as junior Marty Melson singled to centerfield, then Quigley and Bailey followed with back to back homeruns. Shutting down the Farmers' offense was Fleming who struck out nine and allowed only three hits.

In other pre-district matchups, the Wildcats swept a twin bill against Waco Richfield. Levinski was the winning pitcher in the first game as he struck out seven and gave up only four hits. Plano collected ten hits as Hinnrichs went two for three at the plate and had a 340 foot homerun to his credit. The Cats won 12-3. Morrison pitched the second game and won 9-6.

3) First baseman Rick Call gets a single in the 5-0 loss to Lake Highlands.
4) Jim Bob Puckett singles to right field in a non-district contest against DeSoto which Plano loses 11-5.
5) Junior Marty Melson knocks a double off the left field fence as Plano tops the Richardson Eagles 4-3 in the eighth inning.
6) Junior Steve Morrison picks up two district wins against Paris, 12-1 and 5-0.
7) In an attempt to tag out a Denison baserunner, catcher Ed Bailey, who made first team All-District, dives head first.
8) Designated hitter Tom Quigley hits a double and a single against Richardson.

Hardballers end third in district

Wildcat varsity hardballers started district in a slump as they lost their first four ball games but then rallied to finish in third place with a 9-7 tally.

Two big wins for the Wildcats came over Paris, the defending district and the 76-77 champs as well. In the first meeting with the visiting Wildcats, Plano had a 0-4 record while Paris had a 4-0 slate. Left hander Steve Morrison shut down Paris to only two hits as Plano collected ten. The hometown Wildcats upset Paris 12-1. Leading hitters were Ed Bailey with three singles, Greg Hinnrichs with two singles, Tom Quigley with a single and a triple, Ken Anders with two doubles, and Andy Caulo with a double.

In the second half, Plano and Paris met but this time all-state pitcher Ricky Wright was on the hill for Paris. For five innings the score was knotted at 0-0, but then Wright's arm grew weak because he had pitched the day before and he was replaced. In the seventh inning the Cats exploded for six straight hits off the bats of Quigley, Bailey, Hinnrichs, Caulo, Rick Call, and Marty Melson, and the Cats got another win for Morrison.

Coach Rommie Maxey's Wildcats finished with four players being named to the first team All-District while five were named to the honorable mention lists. First team members were Bailey, Hinnrichs, Anders, and Quigley. Honorable mention players were Call, Caulo, Jim Bob Puckett, Morrison, and Doug Fleming.

JV Baseballers hit tough season

New junior varsity baseball coach Terry Tuck led his hardballers to a season record of nine wins and seven losses.

In the highest scoring game of the season against Pearce, the Cats held off the Mustangs to capture a 14-11 victory. The Cats hit the ball well, collecting 15 hits. Leading the hitting was junior Steve Birchall with three singles and designated hitter David Haverfield with two singles in three times at bat.

Lake Highlands found Plano a tough opponent as the Cats battered Lake Highlands 15-5. Plano had 17 hits as junior Jamie Oakry led the Cats with three singles in four trips to the plate. Coach Tuck kept the Cats running as they ran up a total of 11 stolen bases.

The Richardson Eagles found right-handed pitcher Keith Bounds an unstoppable machine as Bounds fired a perfect game to lead the Wildcats to a 10-0 win in five innings. Bounds struck out nine of the fifteen batters he faced. Second baseman Steve Brevig, with two singles and a double, led the hitting while Joel Lawrence added to the hitting power with two singles.

The only two teams to really beat the J.V. Cats were Vines and Williams high schools. Ironically, members from those two teams will join the Cats to make up the Senior High varsity squad next year. With this experience, next year's team looks promising.

Cat tracksters keep on a' truckin; leaving others in a cloud of dust

Varsity tracksters, under the direction of Coach Ron McNeill, placed second in the district meet. Plano finished within the top eight in their competitive meets prior to district. Top places included a third at Bryan Adams, a third in Garland, a second in Duncanville, and a first in Lewisville.

Junior distance runner Rick Banks broke Gary Maddox's 2-mile run record of 10:19 set in 1976, as he ran the 2-mile in 10:06.9 at the Mesquite Track Meet. Junior Mark Burch beat the school record when he threw the discus 15'1" in regional competition. The old mark was set by Kim Randolph with a 14'3" throw in 1970.

In the district meet, Banks paced Plano's effort as he finished first in the one mile run with 4:21.8. Banks' time was a District 13-AAAA record, as well as a Plano Senior High School record and the best time posted in Region II.

Sprinter Junior Compass set a school record with a first place finish in the district 440-yard dash in 49.4 seconds.

The race was tight until Compass put an extra kick into his stride to break the string in record time giving him a trip to Denton for the regional meet.

The mile relay team set a school record with a second place district finish in 3:23.1. Team members were Compass, C. M. Pier, Brian Neville and Andy Sanders.

Five thinclads go to regionals

Placing second by running the 880 in 1:59.0, senior Mike Winchester advanced to regionals.

Junior Mark Burch's second place in the discus with a 137'11" throw at district qualified him for regionals. Senior Walter Ford dashed 100 yards in 9.8 seconds to finish sixth. Plano finished second in district with a total of 68.3 points.

In the Bryan Adams Invitational, Burch started Plano's scoring by placing second in the discus with a throw of 139'7". Plano went on to win the two mile relay, the sprint medley, and the 100-yard dash. Ford won the 100 in a time of 10.7 against the wind to round out Plano's winners.

Girls take second at district meet

Girl's track competitors placed sixth in District 13-AAAA action. In the district meet, senior Melinda Smith placed second in the shot put, qualifying for regionals. In the 440 and 880-yard relays, team members Lorrie Marsh, Susan Yarbrough, Vi Johnson, and Melanie Carlin sprinted to a third place district finish.

Making a great effort in the Plano Invitational Meet, the girls took second place behind Berkner. In the 220-yard dash, junior Lorrie Marsh took first place while Vicki Larkin won third in the 440-yard dash. Junior Denise Cox took fifth in the 880-yard run. Junior Susan Yarbrough took second in the 100-yard dash, followed by Vi Johnson's fifth. In the 440 and 880-yard relays, Plano walked away with a first. Junior Melanie Carlin won a first in the 80-yard hurdles while junior Kathy Sadler came in fourth in the mile run.

In field events, senior Melinda Smith was third in the shot put and junior Debbie Harrell was fourth. Senior Mary Davis high jumped to a second place finish.

"With everyone's time improving toward the end of the season and so many juniors on the team, we have big hopes for next year," said Coach Rochelle Davis.

Wrestling team overcomes injuries, place two grapplers in state meet

Members of the Wildcat wrestling team were hampered with several injuries, but they managed to place two varsity grapplers in the state meet.

Senior Andy Cates won third place in the state tournament while junior Larry Albertson took third after recovering from a fractured right hand.

The Plano wrestlers achieved wins over Richardson, Bishop Lynch, Van Alstyne, Berkner, J. J. Pearce, W. T. White and Lake Highlands in dual meet competition. Their only losses were to MacArthur, R. L. Turner and St. Marks.

Lack of wrestlers and numerous injuries forced Plano to forfeit several weight classes which allowed opposing teams to pick up total points easily. This proved to be the difference in many of the closer matches.

In tournament competition, Albertson received "Fastest Pin" at the Ft. Hood Invitational en route to winning his weight class. Cates placed first in the R. L. Turner match and was awarded "Outstanding Wrestler" for his efforts.

Albertson, Cates and junior Mark DeVelde placed first in the Conference meet. Senior Bill Watton and junior George Ridpath placed second in their weight division while senior Bob Levinski took third in the heavyweight class.

Six wrestlers qualified for the state meet by placing in the top three of their weight class.

Golfer places fourth in state

Plano's 1976-77 golf year came to a close with the boys team finishing fourth in the district tournaments. Missie McGeorge, the only female member of the golf team, finished fourth in the state tournament held in Austin.

Missie added many honors during her senior year to her two previous state finishes in her sophomore and junior years. Missie took first place in the Denton and Castleberry Invitationals as well as the District 13-AAAA Meet and regional tournaments. In the state finals, Missie shot an 85 on opening day and an 81 closing day. Her total score of 166 qualified her for a playoff for third place which she lost, taking fourth.

Missie plans to continue her golf career at SMU next year where she won a four year athletic scholarship based on her performance as a golfer.

Crist stands out in district play

Boys golf season was highlighted by several impressive finishes with some of the Dallas area teams. In match play, the boys were undefeated.

The linkers started out strong in the district contests leading after the Denton tournament but dropping slowly into fourth place after the final tournament at Richardson. Plano's golfing standout was junior Billy Crist who led the team in district competition as well as many other tournaments throughout the year.

In non-district action the golfers finished at least fourth place in every tournament. The first tournament saw the clubbers take a second place finish at Richardson.

Other tournaments included fourth place finishes at Denton, Tyler, and Irving. One of the highlights of the season was the second place finish at the Annual Dallas High School Invitational.

Soccer team ties for second in district competition

Soccer established itself as a forerunner in Plano athletics during the 1976-77 school year.

Plano Senior High's soccer team finished their second year of competition in 13-AAAA with an impressive 5-1-2 district record.

Under the direction of head coach Terry Tuck, the Cats opened the season with five consecutive wins over Lake Highlands, Pearce, Sherman, Lewisville and Berkner.

As the district race progressed, competition tightened and the Plano ball club was forced to settle for ties against both Richardson and Denton.

The varsity soccer team's only loss occurred during its final district outing as they were upset by R. L. Turner 2 to 1.

The loss slipped Plano into a tie for second place in district with R. L. Turner.

Pearce compiled the best won-lost record to take loop honors, even though Plano defeated them earlier in the season 3-1.

Leading scorers for the Cats were senior Mike Young and juniors Larry Hampton and Stevie Haynes.

Defensive standouts included seniors Mike Fitzgibbon, Joel Stanford, and Mike Hamilton.

JV finishes third in district race

Compiling a 3-3-1 season record, the junior varsity soccer team finished its second year at Plano Senior High under the direction of Coach Terry Tuck.

The Wildcats were victorious over Sherman, Lake Highlands and Lewisville. They tied R. L. Turner 2-2 in the final district match.

A convincing 6 to 1 win over Lake Highlands proved to be the highlight of the season for the Wildcats. Center forward Chris Schnaithman led the Cats as he netted three goals. Junior Mike Tolnay followed with two goals and junior Dino Saez bagged a single score.

Spikers suffer from inexperience

Girls Wildcat volleyball team was plagued with inexperience and tough competition as the team finished with an 8-9 district record.

Without any returning starters the varsity spikers began their season under the direction of new head coach Ms. Ruth Stovall.

"It was a tough year," said Coach Stovall. "People really don't realize the high level of competition in our district," she added.

The best team effort of the season came against Berkner but failed to provide the spikers with a win. Although the cats lost, 13-15, 15-10, 8-15, the match showed the togetherness of the team.

Early in the season the team was handicapped because of injuries. However, they did achieve wins over Paris, Greenville, Denison, Lake Highlands, and R. L. Turner.

The volleyball team failed to regain the district crown, but managed to place junior Karen Brannon and Debra Ayres on the Honorable-Mention All-District team.

3) Serving for Plano is senior Lori Maldonado, against Lake Highlands. Plano wins with final scores of 15-7, 14-16, 15-7.
4) Cindy Langford sets up her teammate for a spike against Berkner.
5) Junior Karen Brannon, who made the Honorable Mention All-District, jumps to block a shot.

Relay team rates fourth in state

Plano's swim team faced tough competition with their season highlighted by the girls defeat of Hockaday in a dual meet, 110-64. In another win, the boys out-stroked St. Marks 88-84, also in a dual meet.

Under the direction of new head coach Terry Warner, the tankers managed to place their Boys 200-Medley Relay team in the state competition with a qualifying time of 1:43:09. The medley relay team consisted of seniors John Lewis, Bruce Stein, Greg Steffen, and junior Craig Calafati. In the state meet, the medley relay team represented the Wildcat aquatic squad well as they finished fourth with a time of 1:42:49.

Netters win second on indoor court

Twenty-one Plano netters ended their season with 26 wins, eight losses, and five ties.

Played indoors on the artificial courts of Plano's Activities Building, the final District 13-AAAA Tennis Tournament provided a unique experience for team members. The tournament proved successful for Plano with the team placing second behind Richardson. Junior Lisa Cure qualified for the regional tournament while three other Plano netters were named to the coaches' first all district team.

Overall, the netters competed in seven tournaments, playing host to two.

Highlighting the season was the Arlington Team Tournament where Plano's tennis team placed second out of 22.

Girls sports highlight school year

Girls varsity sports highlighted the athletic year. Girls varsity basketballers, under the supervision of Coach Rita Barnes, finished second in the regional playoffs behind South Oak Cliff with a 25-5 season record.

Golf coach Jay Stevens sent his only girl golfer Missy McGeorge to Austin where she finished fourth in the state.

The varsity tennis team, coached by Ken Sumrow, finished second behind Richardson while Coach Ruth Stovall's volleyballers finished district with an 8-9 record.

Five of Coach Taylor Webb's grapplers went on to regional mat competition while track coach Ron McNeill had five of his thinclads qualify for the regional meet.

Varsity baseball coach Rommie Maxey, in his last season at Plano, started district with four straight losses but his team bounced back finishing third with a 9-7 district slate.

Soccer was the outstanding boys' sport with Coach Terry Tuck leading his team to a second place district finish behind J. J. Pearce. Defense was the big part of the game for soccer as the team allowed only eight goals during their eight game season, ending 5-1-2.

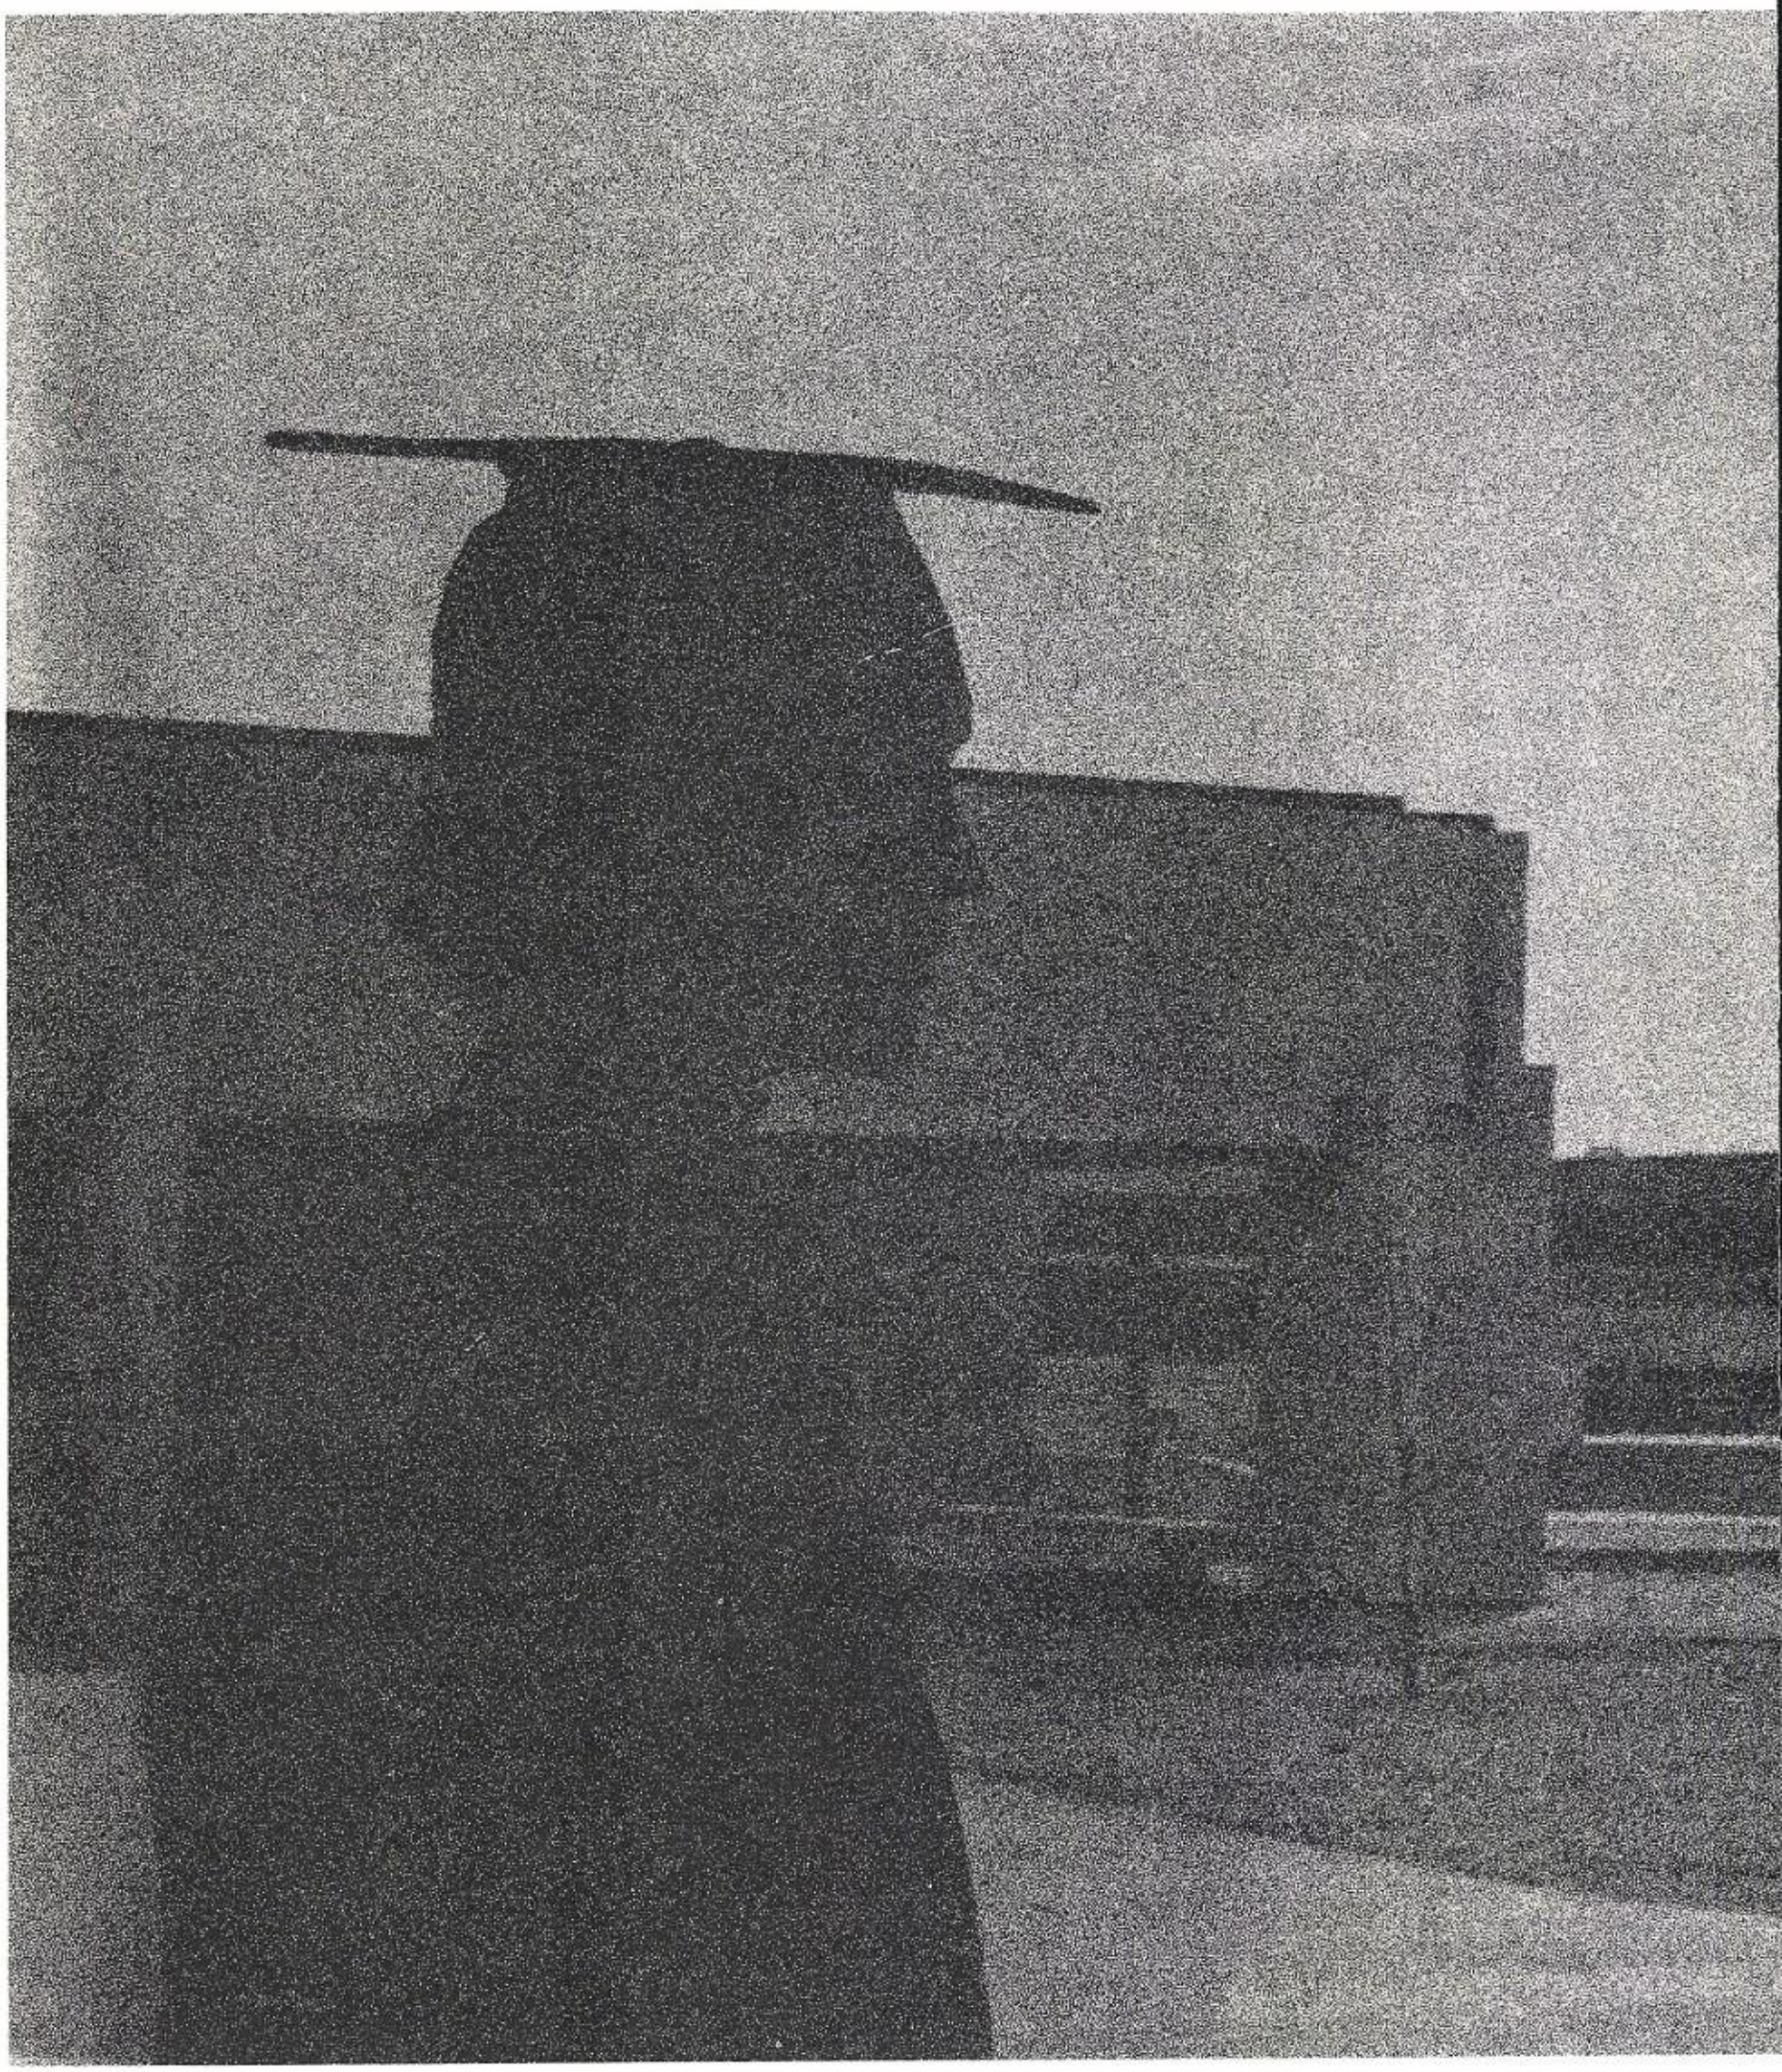
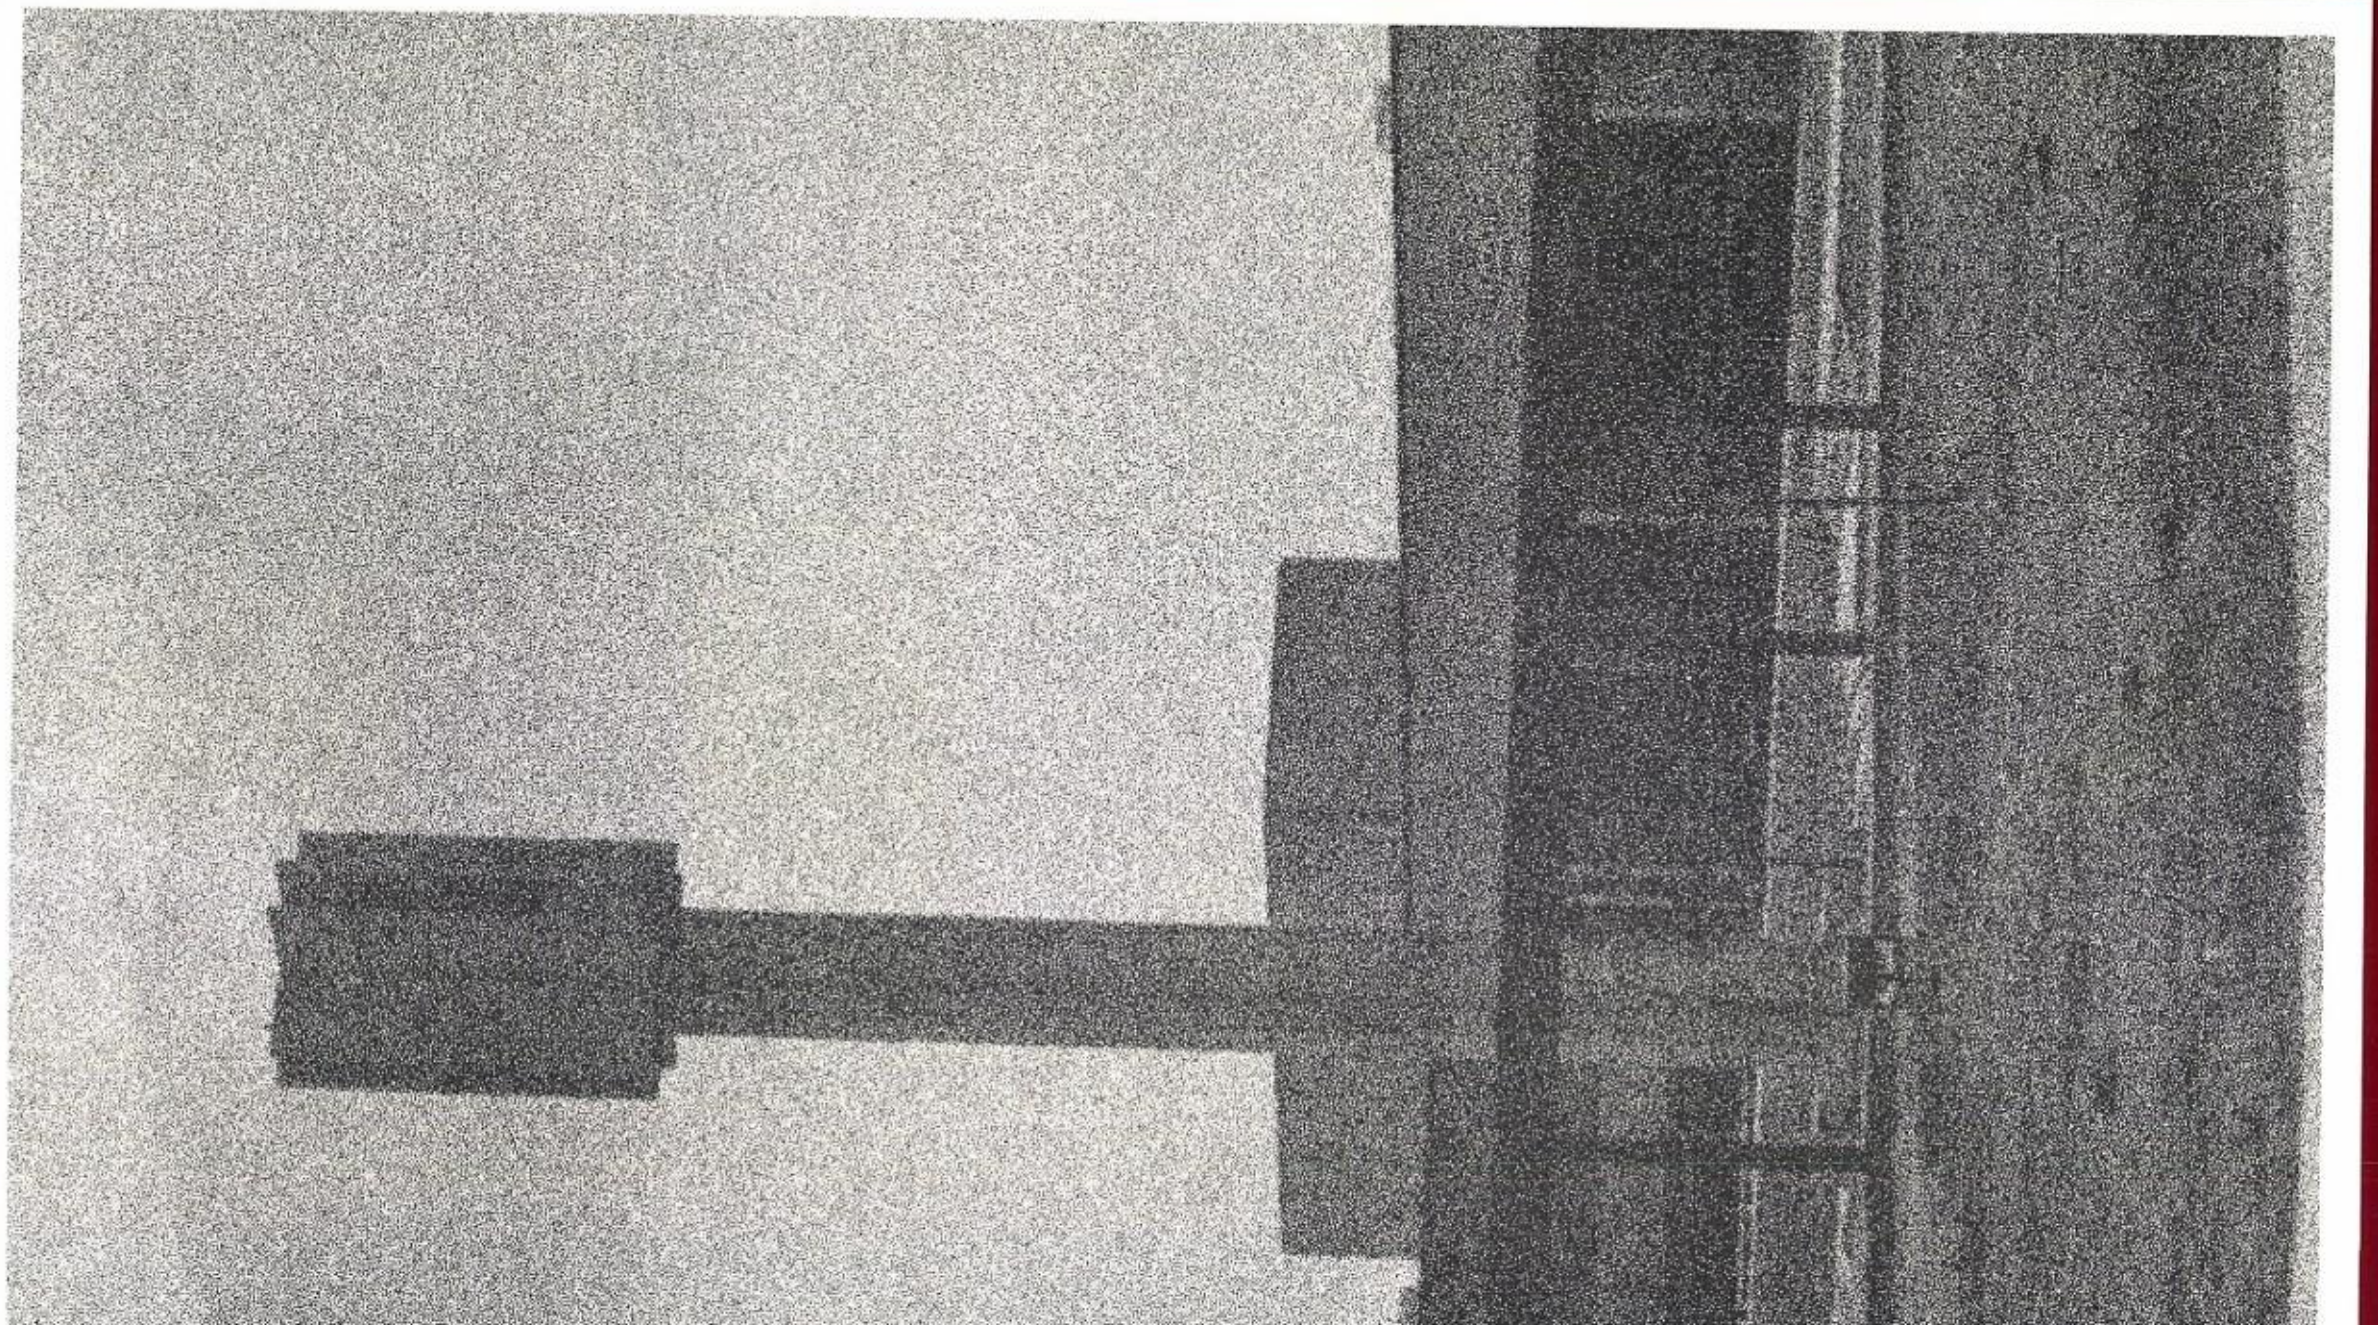
7) During the regional basketball playoff against SOC, Coach Rita Barnes gives last minute instructions to her players.
8) Moving to Plano from Hirschi High School in Wichita Falls, basketball coach Mike Bridges ends his first season with an 11-19 record.



THROUGH INDIVIDUALS



SENIORS

Seniors found it difficult to establish their identity during their final year as "sub-schools" replaced class distinction in many cases. Yet, after caps and gowns were ordered and third quarter began, they became infected with "Senioritis."

The college entrance exams confirmed the status of seniors.

Vowing as juniors to do something remarkable as seniors, the class set a precedent as being the largest class to graduate with 869 seniors.

With such a large class, the annual prom became a senior function instead of a junior-senior prom which disappointed many juniors. Some seniors were also sad since early graduation prevented many seniors from attending prom. A new school policy ruled that early graduates could take part only in the Baccalaureate and graduation ceremonies at the close of school.

After eleven years, we can finally see the end of our waiting. To be a senior! It will be like shifting into the highest gear, it's what we have been waiting for.

We expect a lot. We expect to feel older, stronger, maybe more intelligent. We expect opportunities. We expect more acceptance into the adult world we've been working towards. We expect the strings to fly and let loose our separate dreams. In only one more year . . . who knows.

One more year and it will be all over, so take advantage of what we have while we can, because we are very close to the end of our school years.
Celena Allen, junior

Counselors aid students in college, career choices

If it weren't for the counselors, life on campus would be a lot more difficult for students.

The seven counselors helped students arrange their yearly class loads and make necessary schedule changes each quarter.

College bound students were administered tests and aided by counselors in considering career opportunities available to them.

The large library facility provided a number of new books and resource materials. Classes could reserve areas for research work while the periodical room offered several metropolitan daily newspapers and weekly magazines.

Secretaries proved to be invaluable as they perform many tasks outside their regular secretarial duties.

Assistant principals supervise new subschool concept

To strengthen students' individual identity in an open campus atmosphere, a subschool program was established under the direction of three assistant principals.

The three subschools, Delta, whose students' last names begin with A-G; Beta, students H-O; and Gamma, students N-Z, were supervised by Jack Garner, Roy Lamb and Archie McAfee, respectively.

Responsibilities of the assistant principals included recording student attendance, maintaining schedules, forming parental relationships and disciplining students.

The assistant principals kept a personal realationship with as many students as possible by visiting classrooms, and attending student activities. The three also were active in directing student councils for each subschool.

Tight schedule keeps Millender, Dickson busy

Coordinating student activities, both inside and outside the classroom, kept Mr. Sherman Millender and Mr. Jim Dickson busy.

Associate principal Sherman Millender was responsible for coordinating school related activities outside of the class. Events such as pep rallies, club functions, and intramurals were scheduled by Mr. Millender.

Under the direction of Mr. Millender, Wildcat t-shirts, hats, scarves, and jackets were sold to raise money for the senior class prom. Working closely with Mr. Millender, the senior class selected graduation invitations and ordered diploma covers, caps and gowns.

Curriculum director Jim Dickson was new to the high school administration this year.

Working daily with teachers and counselors, Mr. Dickson undertook long-range planning which would enable students to spend longer periods of time pursuing their vocational and scholastic interests.

While studying the high school rationale, he met each week with departmental chairmen, teachers, and special advisory groups to listen to current problems and recommend solutions.

1) Mr. Newton looks on as Mrs. Charlotte Huddleston works on her weekly lesson plan for English.
2) Superintendent Wayne Hendrick welcomes DECA students to a vocational seminar featuring Fred McClure, former student body president of Texas A&M.
3) School Board member Tom Hughston looks over the Tuesday evening agenda.
4) Listening to a committee of Plano teachers explain a math continuum are school board members Rick Melcer, David Black, Rutledge Haggard, Frank Adams, and Superintendent of Schools Wayne Hendrick.
5) Principal Barney Newton discusses upcoming activities with secretary Carolyn Detwiler.
6) Working patiently on the revision of the homework policy is school board member Sue Olivier.

School board, Hendrick, Newton study needs of growing district.

Revision of several school district policies, establishment of new curriculum guidelines, and consideration of the future direction for the fast growing Plano district kept school administrators busy. The seven member school board, with the cooperation of superintendent of schools, Wayne Hendrick, developed homework and composition policies. New guidelines called for homework to be given twice a week in required subjects in grades 7-12. The Board further recommended that composition skills be practiced weekly in each subject taught throughout the school district.

School Board members considered plans for redistricting to better balance the student population in the schools. Showing its concern of the energy problem, the group began planning for a solar heated school. This innovative approach was seen throughout the calendar year as changes were made to expand programs such as the gifted child program and deaf education for the city's children.

In his eighth year as principal, Mr. Barney Newton divided his time between administering to the needs of the senior high school students and participating in statewide and professional organizations.

As a member of the Board of Directors of the Texas Association of Secondary School Principals, Mr. Newton served as chairman of the state committee to study revision of the representation and on the committee to study competency basis graduation and accountability.

On the district level, Mr. Newton worked closely with the staff and students to coordinate activities within the multi building senior high school. Acting as a liason between the senior high school and the school board, he recommended changes to benefit the student body as a whole.

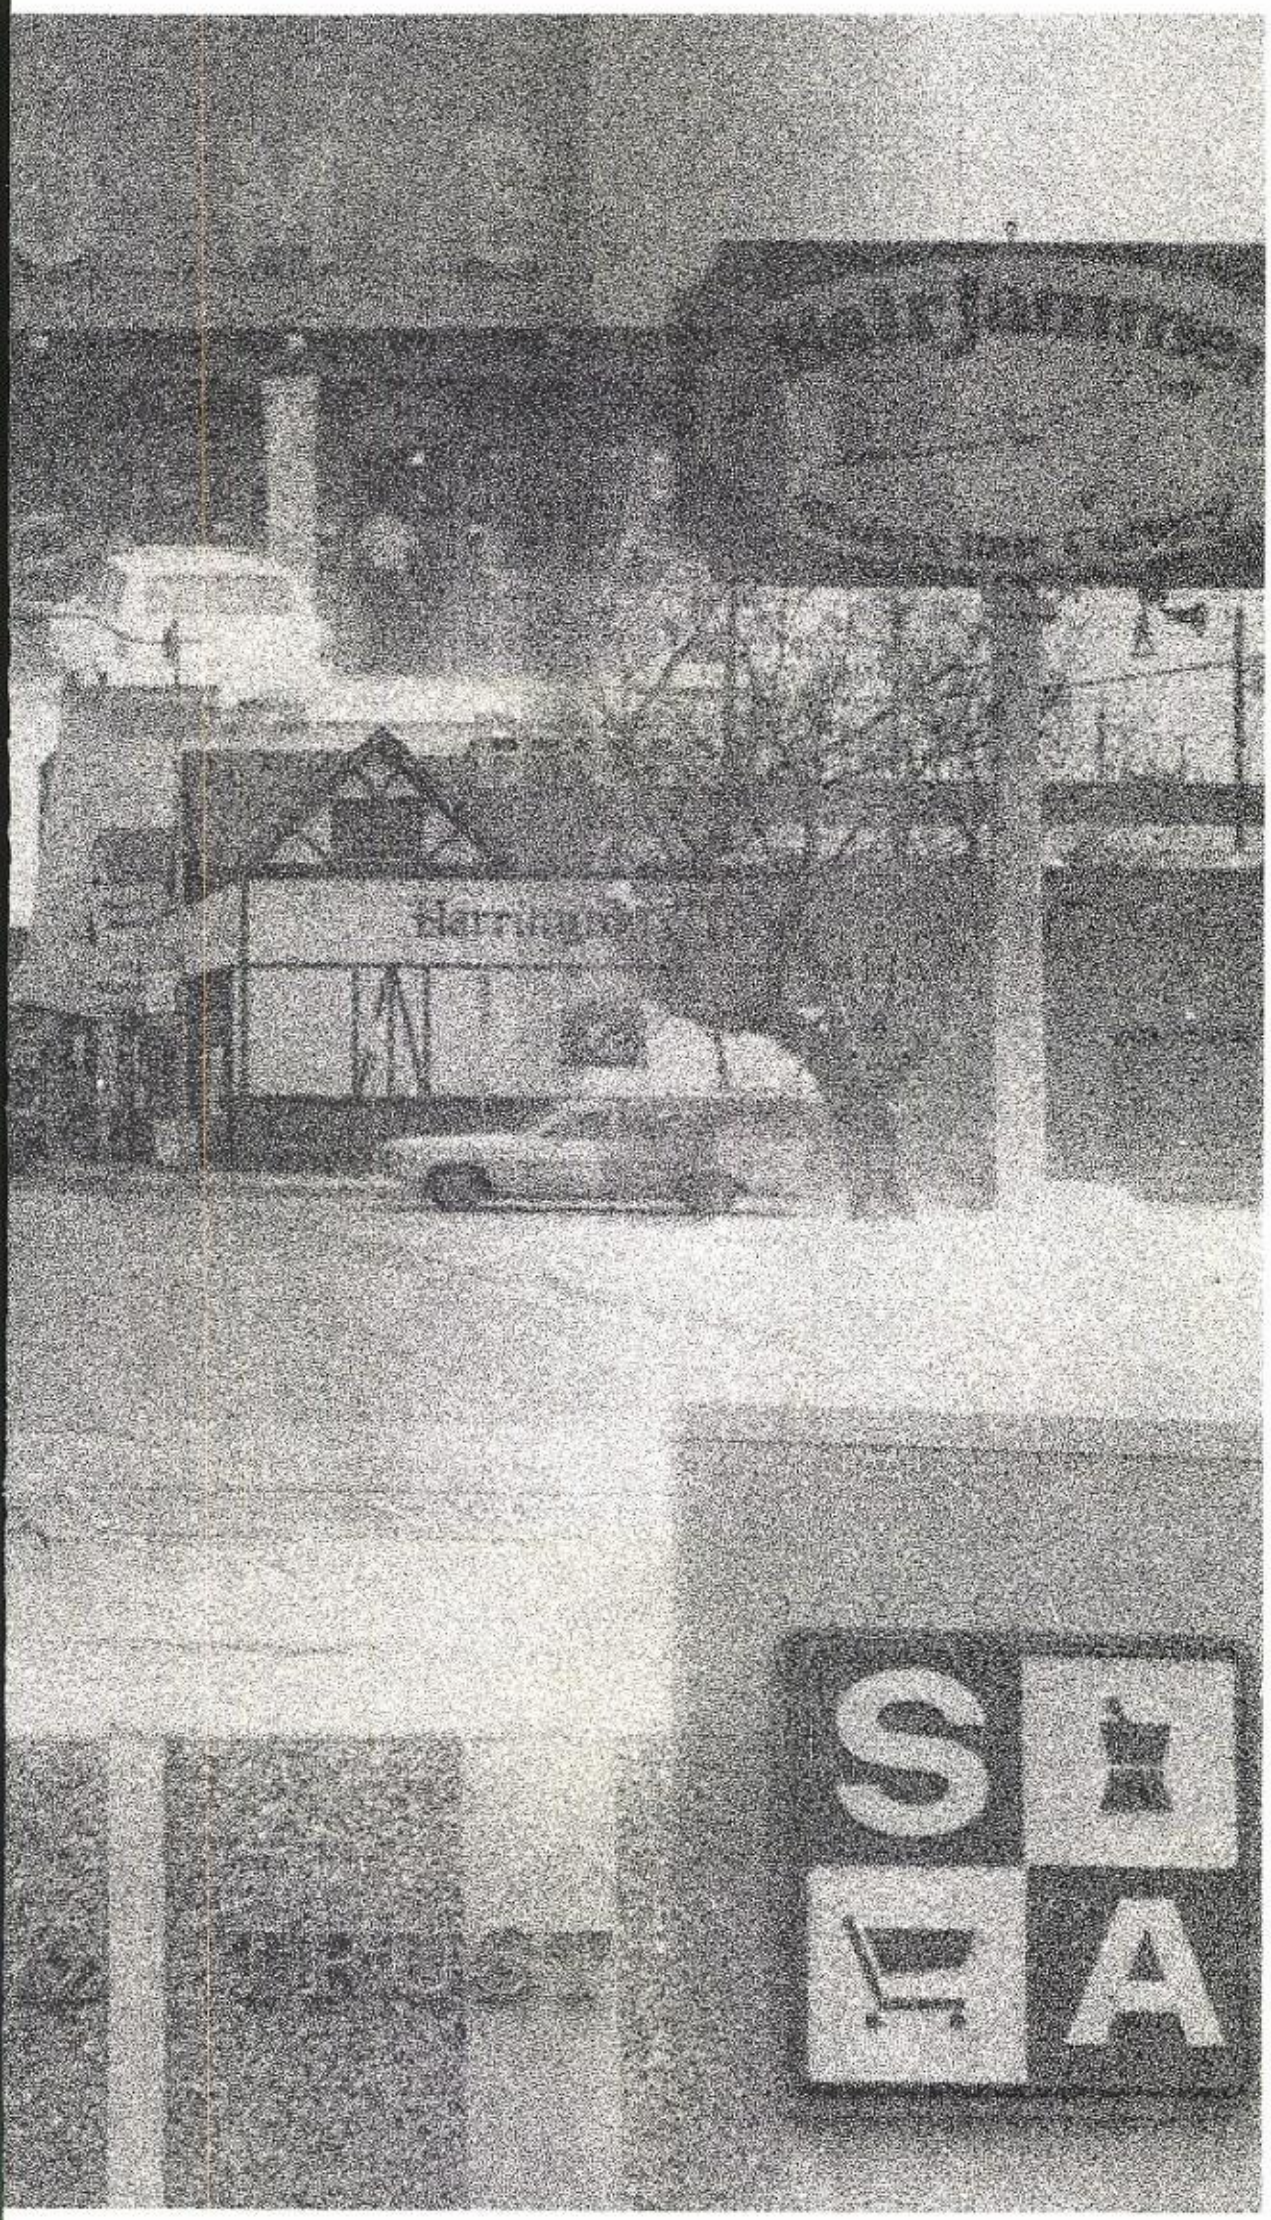
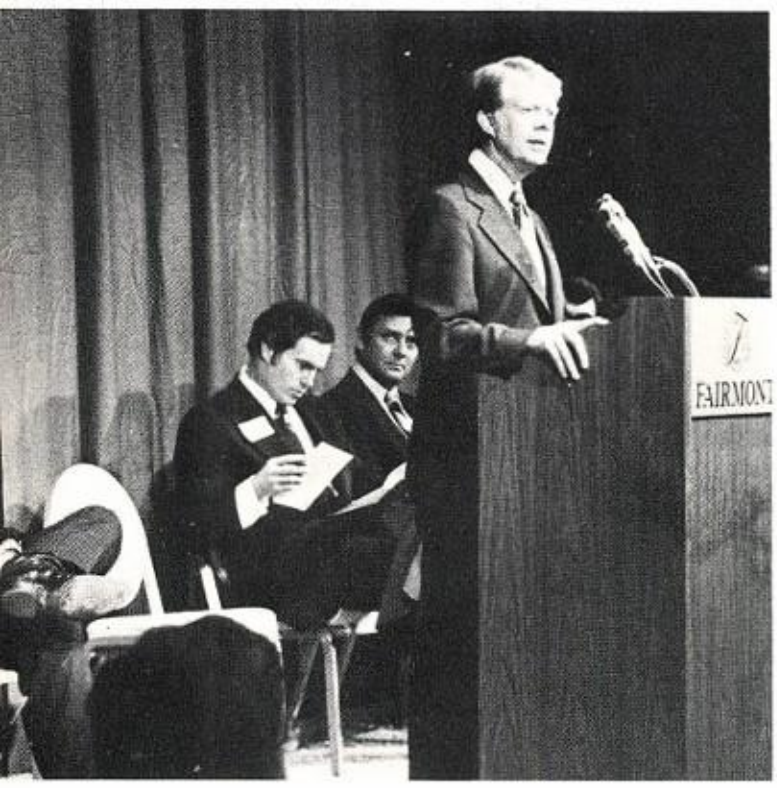
THROUGH COMMUNITY



The Democratic Presidential candidate Jimmy Carter gives reporters a quick interview on his arrival to campaign in Dallas.



Prior to his election, President Carter makes a special presentation to Dallasites at the Fairmont Hotel.

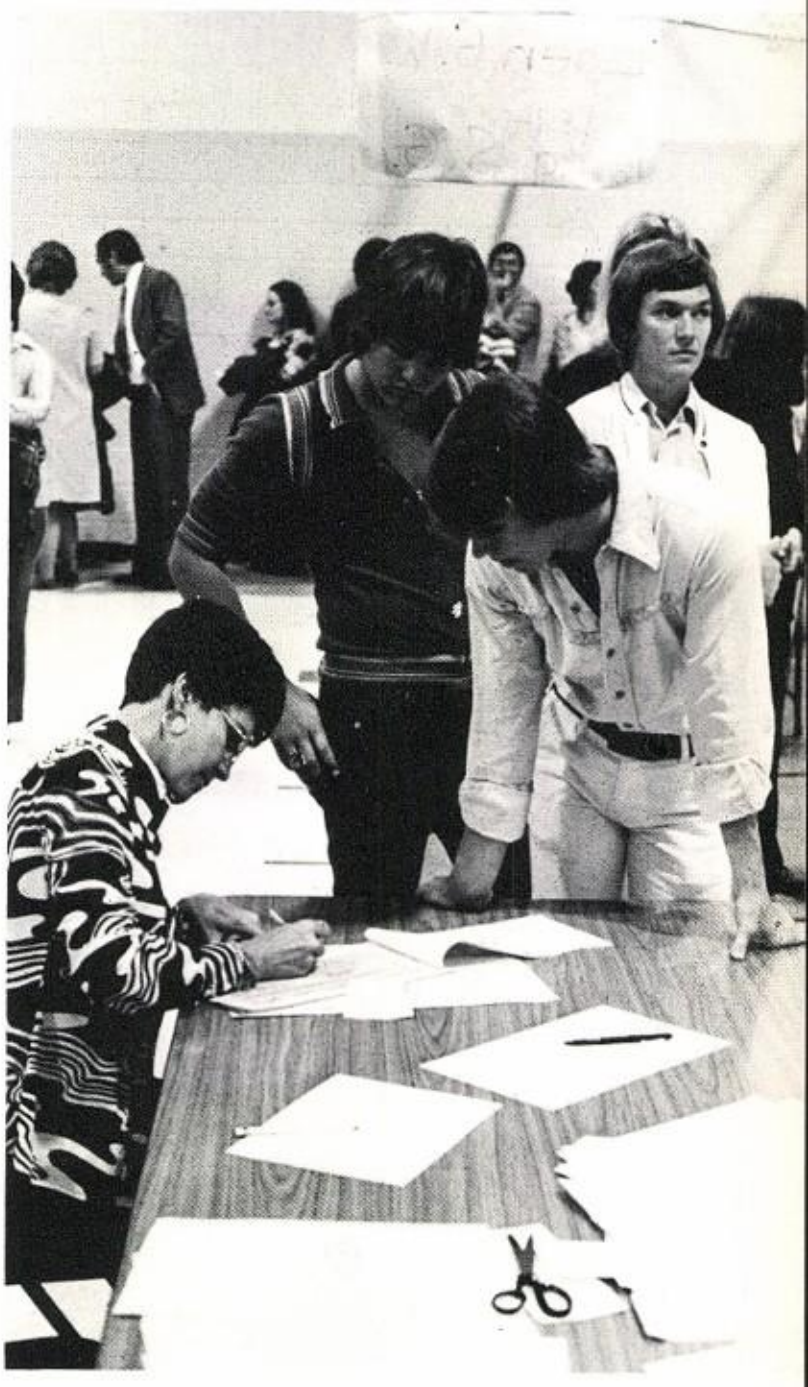
Students from Plano's Social Studies Major Studies class travel to the Fairmont to hear Democratic Presidential candidate Jimmy Carter's speech.

Southerner Jimmy Carter makes it to the White House

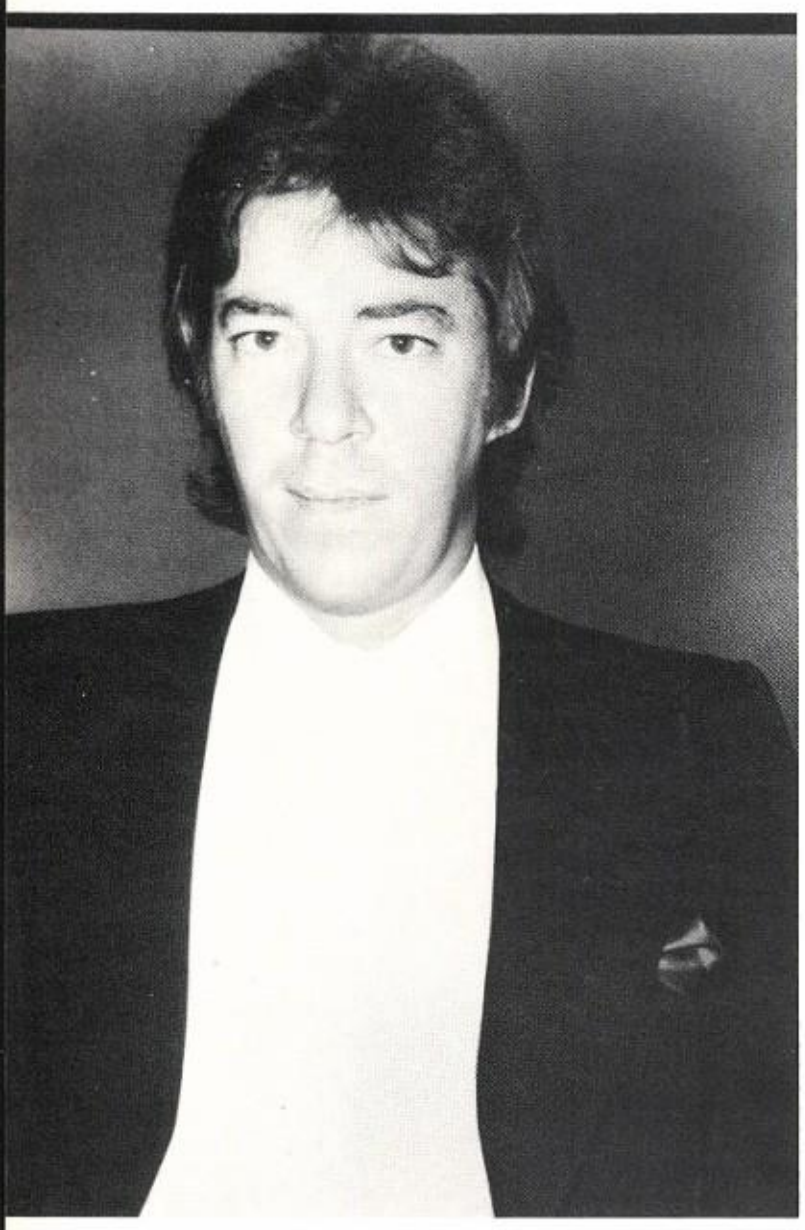
For the second time in U.S. history, the 18-year-old American teenager was able to voice his opinion in a Presidential election. Along with 51 percent of the American voters, they swept a Southern Democrat into the White House. President James Earl Carter, preferring to be known as Jimmy Carter, brought a new informality to the White House and raised the popularity of peanuts and grits to new heights. It was a momentous occasion when the President-elect said goodbye to President Gerald Ford who brought the country through the aftermath of the Watergate scandal.

Winter 1976 saw the U.S. undergoing the coldest winter of the century with snow reaching into southern Florida. Transportation was brought to a standstill on U.S. lakes and rivers. Plano was turned into an icy wonderland with two days of school missed due to snow. A nationwide campaign to immunize people against swine flu provided more of a news story than a lifesaver. Area schools served as inoculation centers for the convenience of Plano citizens. Lines were long as Planoites supported the President's plea for swine flu inoculation.

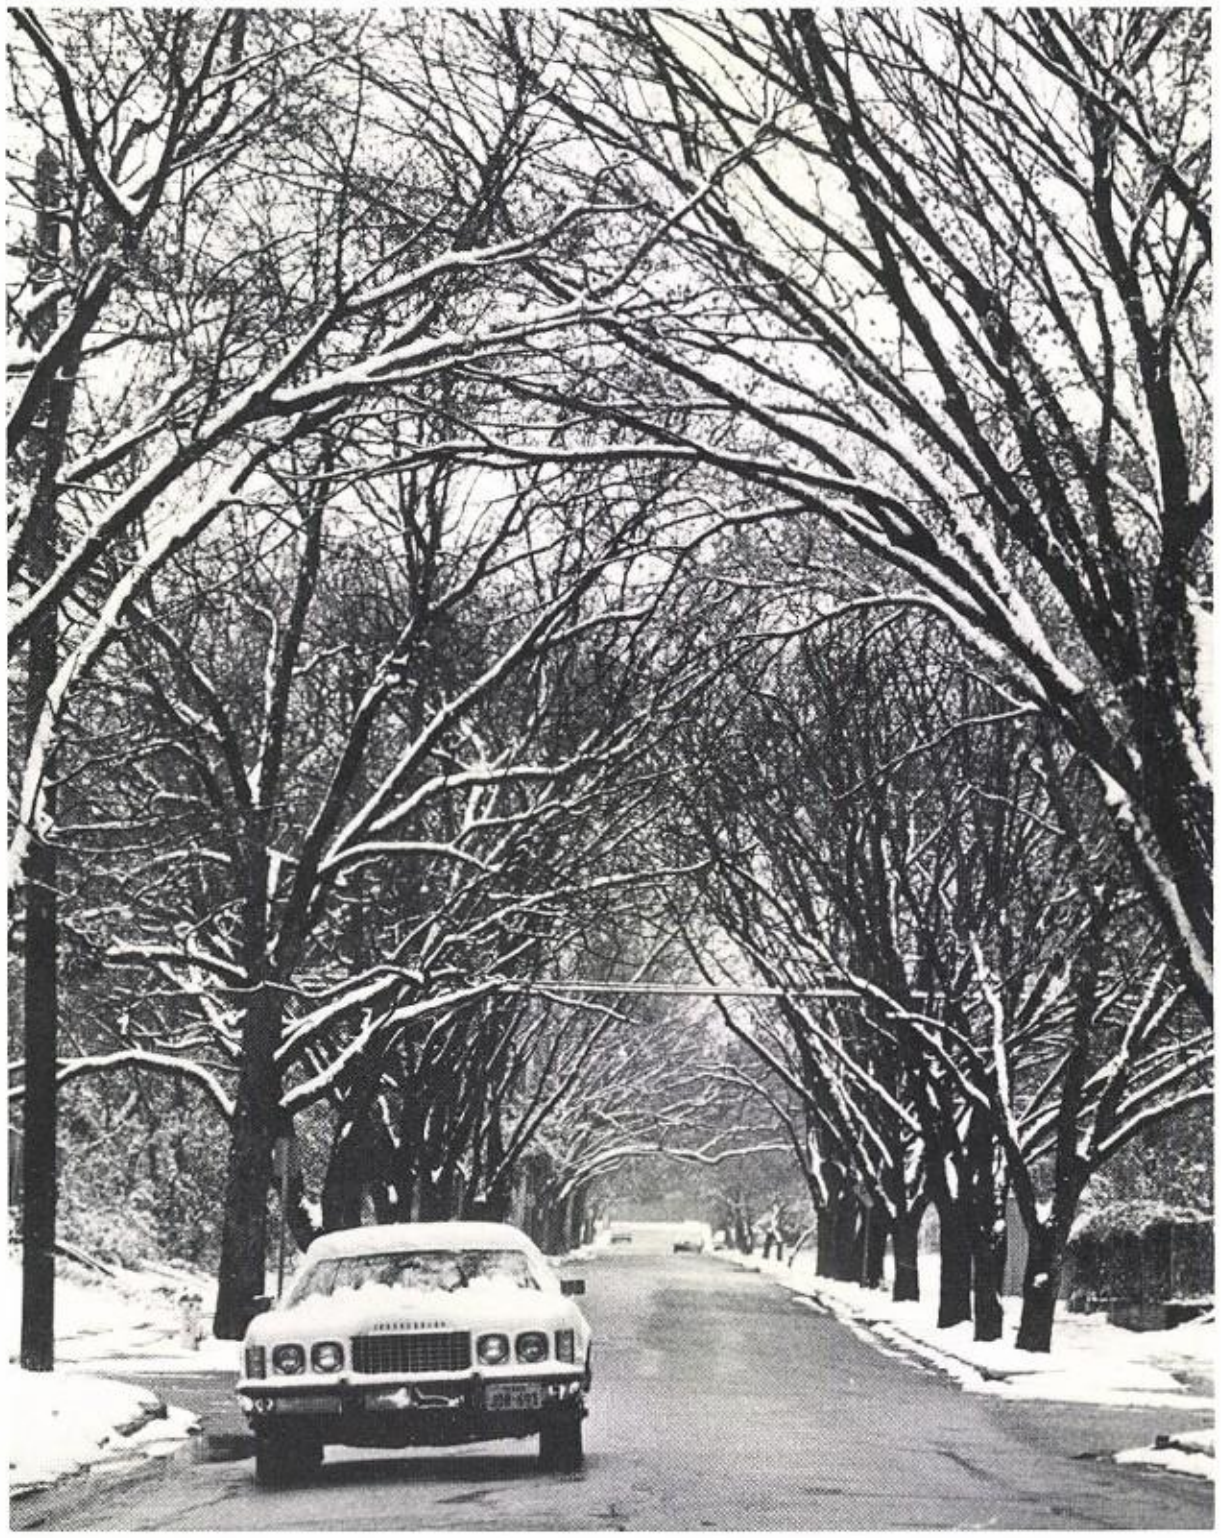
On the campaign trail, former President Gerald Ford waves to the crowd as he arrives at Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth.



AT the polls, seniors Kevin and Chris Golladay register to vote in the 1976 Presidential elections.



Plano's own Boz Scaggs hits the top of the music charts with his album, "Silk Degree."



Record setting snow turns the Dallas metropolitan area into an icy wonderland.

Blonde beauty Farrah Fawcett Majors, a native born Texan, becomes America's new sex symbol.

Thousands of Americans support President Ford's plea for swine flu inoculation.

Dallas explodes with rock shows

On the music scene, groups ran the gamut of popularity. Instead of Sonny and Cher, it was Captain and Tenille. Rock groups included Boston, Chicago, Doobie Brothers, Eagles, Electric Light Orchestra, ZZ Top, as well as Plano's own Boz Scaggs. When Led Zepplin made their first U.S. appearance of the year in Dallas, lines formed five days prior to ticket sales.

As Planoites kept pace with national happenings, they took part in many fund raising drives to preserve old homesites in the community. A group called the Plano Preservation Association was formed to get citizens interested in the preservation or beautification of Plano. They were also involved with cleaning up old cemeteries and landmarks which should be saved.

The Ammie Wilson house is only one of several historical homesites which the Plano Heritage Association is working to preserve.

Saving Tips
on Electric Air Conditioning

1. Set thermostat on 78° , or higher.
2. Have equipment checked seasonally by qualified serviceman.
3. Check filter every 30 days. Clean or replace when dirty.
4. Keep furniture, draperies away from air outlets and returns. Clean grills often.
5. Close draperies and blinds to keep out sunlight.
6. Keep fireplace damper closed.
7. Proper home insulation keeps heat out, cuts energy use.
8. Weatherstrip doors and windows. Caulk cracks.

this bank believes in diplomacy.

Because it sure feels good to be presented with that diploma. Now that school's finally over, what are your plans? A vacation? A new job? College? Whatever you do, knowing how to manage money will become more and more important. And we'd like to start you off right. Maybe this means opening a checking account. Or making a budget and following it. Or just adding to your savings account regularly. So call us. We'll show you how to put graduation diplomacy to work.

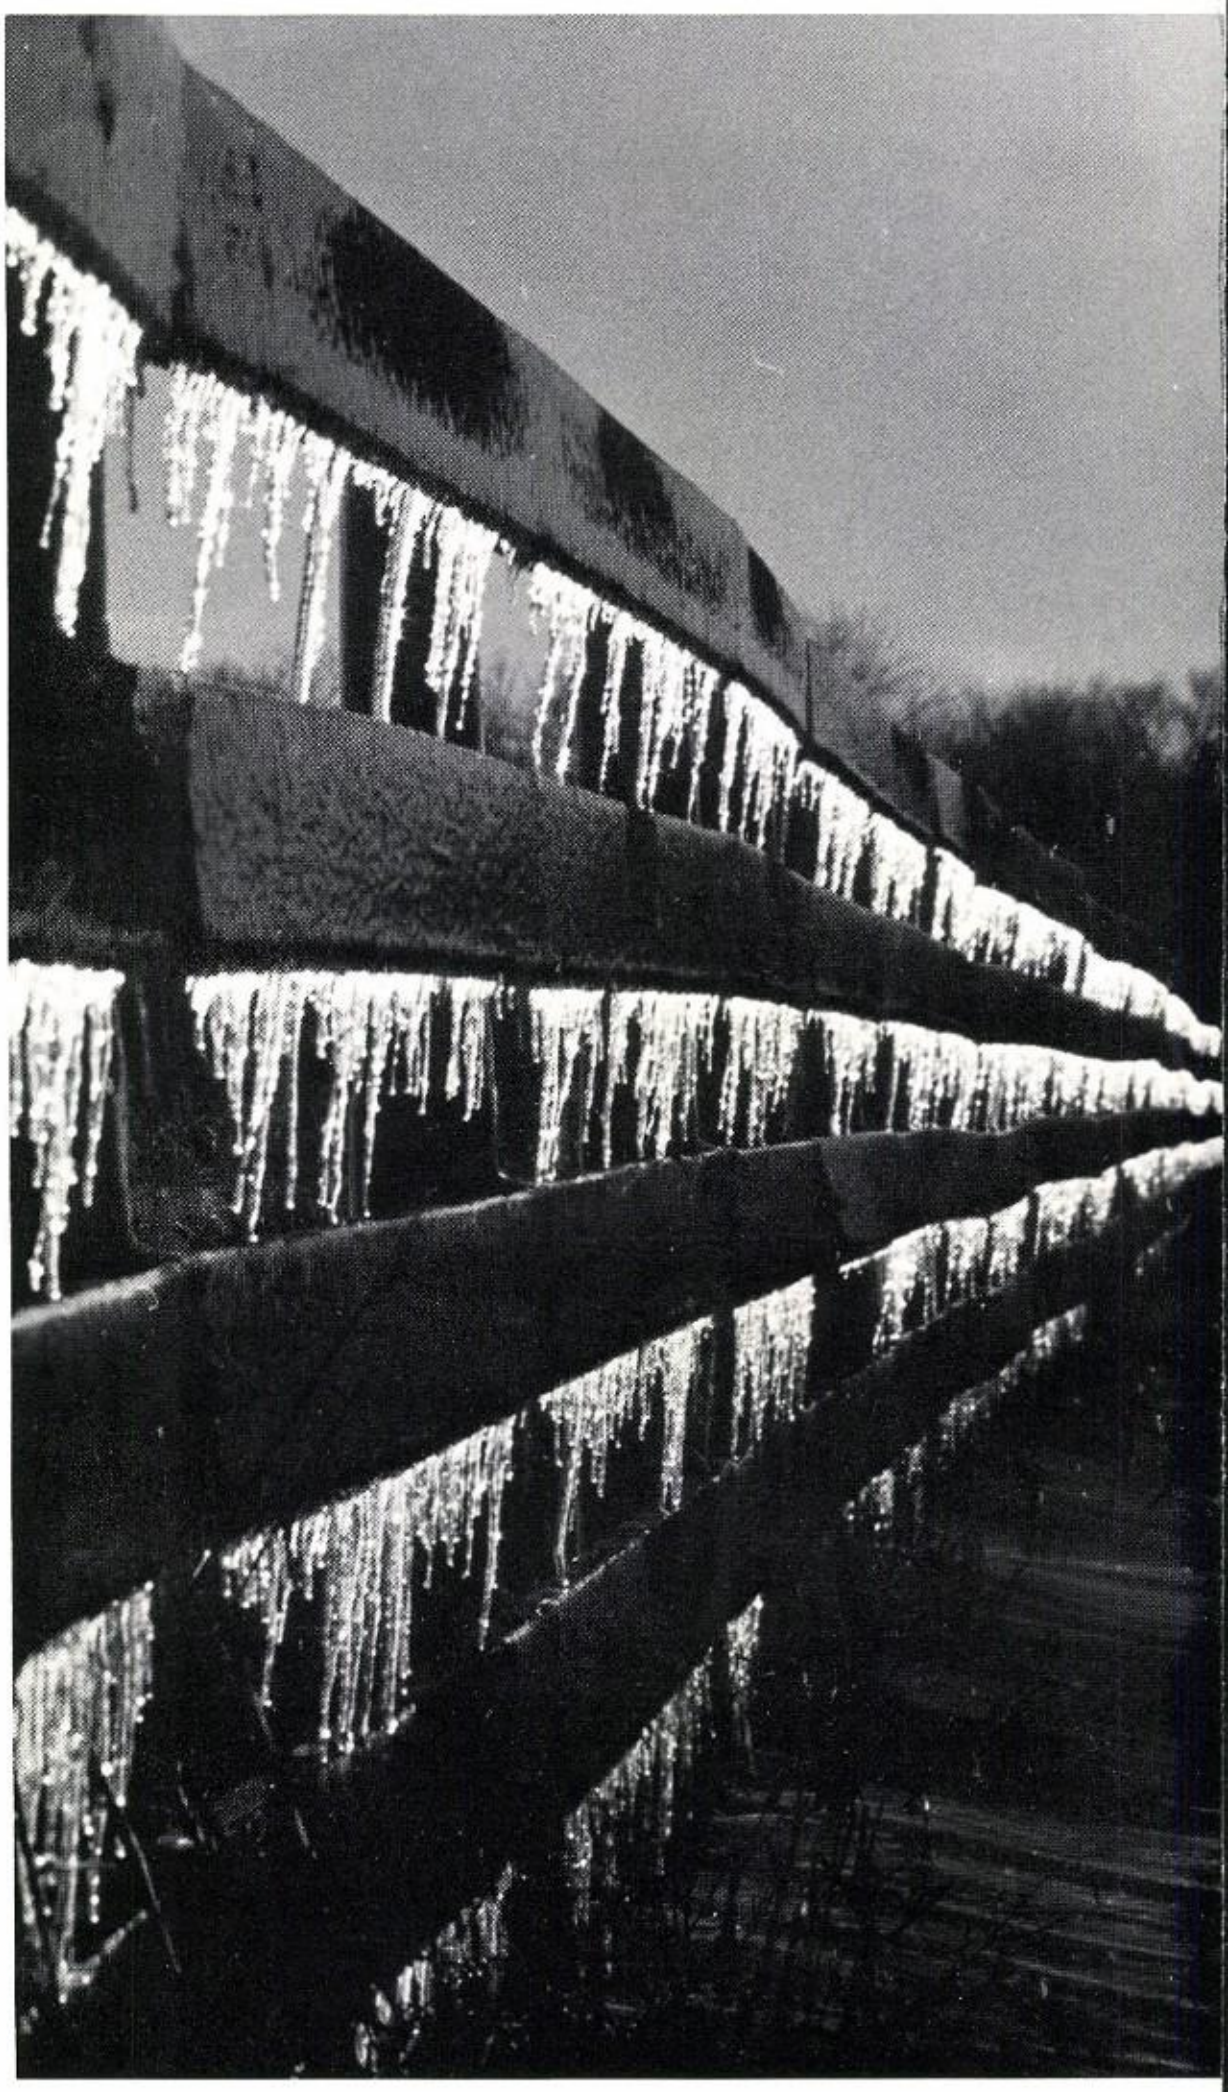
The staff would like to recognize art students Pat Reilly for the cover design; Diana McKnight for the art work on pages 2 and 3; Linda Helton for the miniature drawings in the activities section and the art work on page 328; and Kevin Bounds for the sketches on pages 138-141. Special thanks also goes to Denise Gerneth, Jeff Rasp, and Nancy Trites for the poetry on pages 4-16 and to Denise Gerneth for the poetry on page 327. We also wish to thank Paul Ubl, Glenn Carroll, the Dallas Morning News, the Plano Star Courier, and Action Shots, Inc. for their photographic contributions.



1) Ice covers fences in North Texas during one of the worst winters of recent history.
2) Senior Steve LaFollette joins classmate Jessica Hill for a quick snack in the cafeteria.
3) Lights illuminate the campus and reflect in the water of the pond.
4) Hugging each other during a happy moment at the Lake Highlands-Plano game are drill team members Pam McCreary and Pam Coleman.

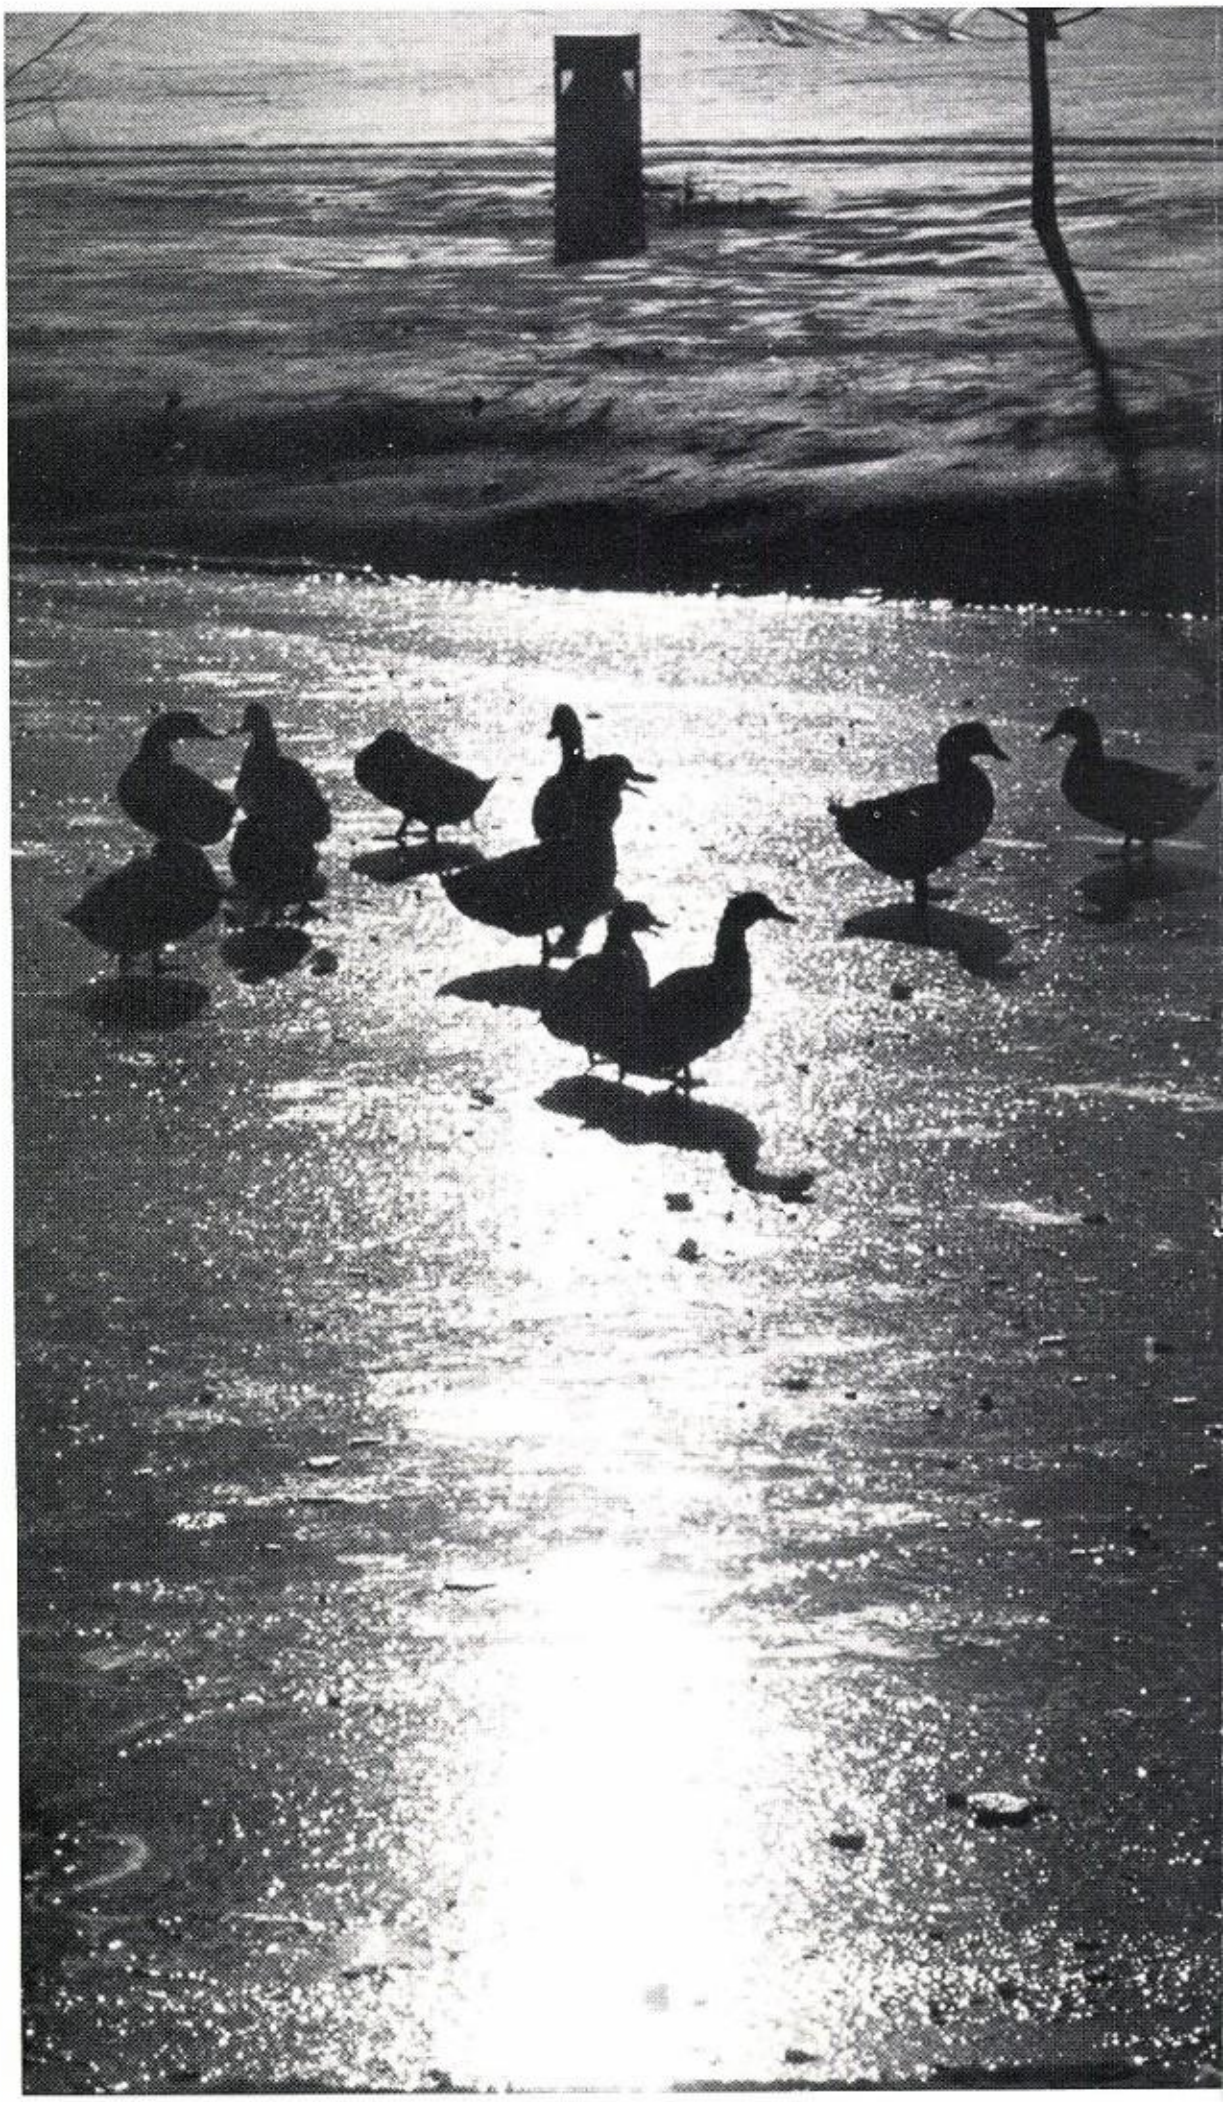
1) Marching band members celebrate after winning the Sweepstakes award at the Worlds of Fun competition in Kansas City.
2) If students aren't found at Plano's Jack-in-the-Box or driving around town, the best place to look for them is Big D!



The ice-covered pond provides a moonlight skating rink for the campus ducks.

Although we look to the future, we will forever cherish our memories of PSHS . . .

the ideals fostered in us by teachers and counselors;
the friendships that will endure;
the loyalty and pride, the components of school spirit, that we felt for school, for our achievements
as a class and for our school's traditions.

Here we learned to trust in ourselves and in our abilities;
to seek out our full potentials as individuals;
to accept disappointment philosophically, to welcome success modestly, and in either case, always to strive for even higher accomplishments; to evaluate new ideas, and to assimilate those that inspire us to greater deeds or that give us insight into ourselves or others into our value systems;
to respect the ideas and work of those who have gone before, and to leave in turn our own ideas for those who will live after us;
to be satisfied with nothing less than our best efforts in each of our endeavors.

Here we learned to think independently;
here we grew, both intellectually and physically;
here we learned to love one another.

We take all of these memories with us, but here we leave a small part of ourselves forever.
